Dislodge Germans From Vital Points

Russian Patrols Push Forward on Smolensk Front—Nazi Losses Heavy

LONDON, April 13 (CP).—Russian patrols thrusting forward on the Smolensk front dislodged the Germans "from fortified positions of great importance" today, while to the North on the Leningrad sector, the Soviets have turned back an outbreak of Nazi tank and infantry attacks with "heavy losses" to the Germans, Moscow announced tonight.

Several score Germans were killed by Russian patrols that pushed across a river and snaked through mine fields in the heavily fortified Smolensk sector west of Moscow to seize the strategic but unidentified positions, said the midnight communique as recorded by the Soviet radio monitor. Two companies of German infantry were wiped out by artillery and infantry fire, it added.

On the Leningrad front "German infantry supported by tanks attacked our positions continuously during the day," but all these charges were driven back, with the Germans losing heavily in manpower, the war bulletin said.

On the Volkhov front about eighty miles to the southeast—where the Russians yesterday had reported repulse of five Nazi attacks—Soviet artillery fire destroyed seventeen pillboxes and dugouts, and a patrol captured an enemy trench, seizing prisoners and returning to the Russian lines.

TAKE OFFENSIVE SOUTH OF BALAKLEY

The Russians took the offensive on the now relatively dormant Donets line south of Balakley, charging into enemy trenches and killing more than 100 Germans, the communique said.

The Russian Air Force, which has raided Koenigsberg in East Prussia twice within the last four nights, continued carrying the fight to the enemy, and destroyed five planes on a Nazi airdrome, the Russians said.

The Moscow radio Tuesday night said a second Russian raid was carried out Monday night against Koenigsberg.

"Large fires and explosions were seen," it said, adding that the Russian bombers attacked military and industrial targets for more than two hours.

Six Feet of Water Over Town Streets

Missouri River Out Of Banks in Iowa

OMAHA, April 13 (AP).—The Missouri River flood crest descended upon the small communities of Southwest Iowa tonight, leaving the Omaha municipal airport and the village of Carter Lake, Ia., a sea of muddy water six feet deep.

Sirens shrieked their warnings at Hamburg, Ia., fifty miles down the river from Omaha, while residents of 200 homes in the southern part of the city of 2,500 moved to safety.

The village of McPaul, above Hamburg, was ordered evacuated. Farmers in the lowland area along a fifty-mile front, moved their families and livestock to higher ground as the waters rolled over their croplands.

A Pacific Junction, Ia., twenty miles below Omaha, 175 men sandbagged the Pony Creek dike that protects the town of 700 from the flood waters. South of town trucks stood by to evacuate farm families if the dike breaks.

Marooned at the Omaha airport administration building were thirty-one airport employees and members of the civilian air patrol. Water ran through the building four feet deep. The employees have food supplies.

Later twenty-six of the men were removed by boat, the other five remaining as watchmen.

It became known tonight that fifteen airplanes were under water in a private hangar at the field.

Wallace Favors World Granary

LIMA, Peru, April 13 (AP).—A world granary or control system for the distribution of farm produce must be set up after the war based on the ancient Inca idea, United States Vice-President Henry A. Wallace declared today in a speech at a reception given in his honor by President Manuel Prado of Peru.

The Spaniards found when they conquered the West Coast of South America that the Incas had storage warehouses for surplus grain, which was saved and doled out in times of scarcity.

Without going into detail concerning the idea of the world granary, the vice-president said it would have "great repercussions in the world economic system."

Attacking Bases in Solomons

Bombers Strike Repeatedly

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP).—American bombers are striking repeatedly at Japanese plane concentration centres northwest of Guadalcanal, the Navy Department reported today as evidence mounted that the Pacific war is approaching a crucial new phase.

A communique disclosed five attacks against enemy bases in the Solomons Sunday evening and Monday. Fighter planes strafed Rekata Bay, silencing anti-aircraft positions. Heavy bombers attacked Kahili. A Catalina patrol bomber raided Munday. Torpedo bombers and fighters bombed and strafed Vila and nearby Ringi Cove in the Central Solomons, starting fires.

All these are points which the Japanese might use in building up their air strength in the Northwestern Solomons.

Navy Secretary Frank Knox told reporters here that "a number of places" on New Guinea are strongly garrisoned, but he could not say whether the forces thus distributed are for attack or defence.

NO INDICATION OF SEA FORCE

"You must remember that an attack on Australia must be accompanied by tremendous sea force and there is no indication of that," Knox said. He also remarked that so far as he knew the Japanese have not recently strengthened their garrisons in the Solomons.

The heavy raids on Moresby and Guadalcanal, however, were described by Knox as "an indication that the Japanese are stepping up their air activity over the southern end of the Pacific battle zone."

Today's communique said Army medium bombers and fighters raided Kiska Island, in the North Pacific at the end of the Aleutian chain, four times Sunday and scored hits and started fires in the camp area. These raised to fifty-eight the total number of attacks on Kiska since the American aerial offensive against that enemy outpost began a month and a half ago.

Knox was asked for comment on a columnist's report that the American air forces in the Aleutians had established a base much nearer Kiska than that in the Andreanof Islands which were occupied last fall. Replying that a columnist "doesn't have to worry about facts," Knox said he could neither confirm nor deny the report.

Are More Than Holding Own Against U-Boat

LONDON, April 13 (CP).—Prime Minister Churchill reiterated in the House of Commons today that "we are more than holding our own" in the Atlantic battle against Germany's U-boats.

The Prime Minister was asked by the Laborite Emanuel Shinwell if he had any comment on the statement of Frank Knox, United States Secretary of the Navy, about heavy shipping losses in March.

He replied: "My attention has been drawn to this statement. I agree with Col. Knox that results of the U-boat warfare are serious, as they always must be. His statement, however, refers to a limited period following one in which sinkings were comparatively small.

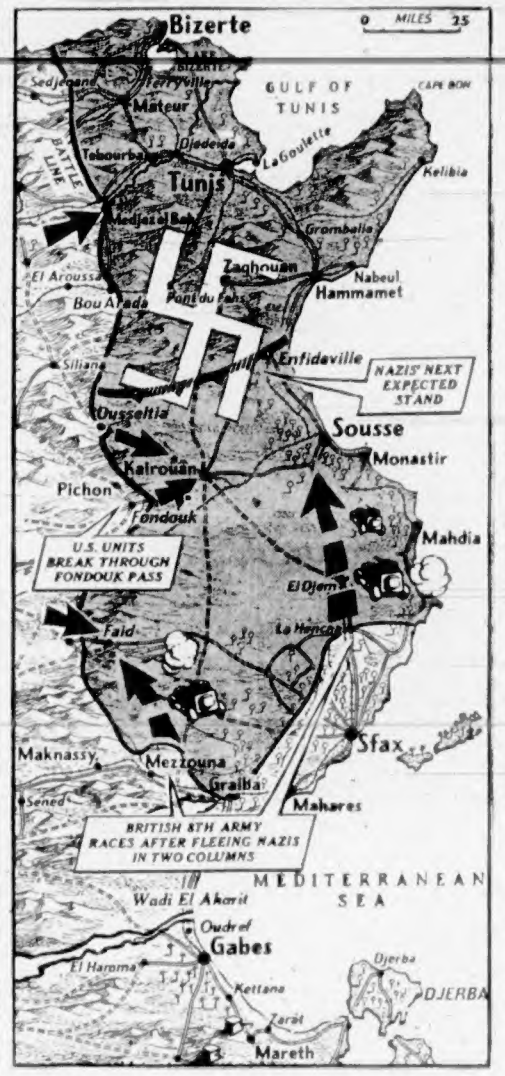
"Viewing the battle against the U-boat as a whole, I can repeat my previous assurance that we are more than holding our own."

Shinwell asked if more information could be given about the campaign against submarines in view "of considerable disquiet in shipping circles among the seamen who are engaged in this warfare and among shipowners."

Mr. Churchill responded: "I do not want to give exact information which would be of great advantage to the enemy, but a great deal of information has been given of general character on this subject.

"I do not believe that the disquiet is more serious than it naturally would be at all times when this form of warfare is being levied upon us. Certainly if it were, there is no ground for it."

Allied Progress Nowhere Halted



The above map shows the progress of the campaign in Tunisia. In the northern sector, the British First Army is continuing to make progress east of Medjez el Bab, capturing prisoners and materials as it goes. In the central sector, the Eighth Army is driving two prongs northward. Rommel's projected defence line at Enfidaville is marked, and it is here that Allied heavy aircraft are concentrating their attacks.

Aerial Initiative Once Again Held by Allies In Battle of W. Pacific

Japanese Lose Seventy-Six Planes In Two Big Thrusts at New Guinea

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 14 (Wednesday) (CP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose planes have blunted two big Japanese aerial thrusts at New Guinea by shooting down seventy-six of the enemy, warned today that powerful Japanese naval forces are within striking distance of Australia, which can be held off only if the Allies keep command of the skies.

"The Allied naval forces can be counted upon to play their own magnificent part, but the Battle of the Western Pacific will be won or lost by the proper application of the air-ground team," his statement said.

He said that "the first line of Australian defence is our bomber line" and "the range of our air force over surrounding waters marks the stretch of No-Man's-Sea, which is the measure of our safety."

His statement, coming on the heels of a warning by Gen. Sir Thomas A. Blamey that the Japanese have massed 200,000 first line troops in the arc of islands north of Australia, was issued on a day when the communique from his headquarters made clear that once more the Allies held the aerial initiative.

Today's communique told of a heavy raid at low level by Allied four-motored bombers on Japanese shipping in Hansa Bay on the north coast of New Guinea, during which a 10,000-ton ship was left sinking and an 8,000-ton ship set afire. No mention was made of Japanese aerial thrusts such as those on Sunday against Oro Bay and on Monday

BULLETINS

EVACUATING AXIS TROOPS

LONDON, April 14 (AP).—Reuter's dispatches from Zurich today quoted reports from Rome and Marseille as saying that Axis troops had been evacuated from Tunisia during the last few nights. There was no immediate confirmation of these reports, however, from Allied sources. The reports quoted by Reuter's said that various contingents had been arriving in the early morning hours at the Sicilian ports of Cagliari, Trapani and Marsala in transports and other craft.

FIERCE FIGHTING

MOSCOW, April 14 (Wednesday) (AP).—Fierce fighting for Donets River positions south of Balakleya continued last night, with about 200 Germans killed in the action, the Soviet noon communique said today.

Fatal Bomber Crash Near James Island

One member of an R.A.F. medium bomber crew is reported dead, one missing, presumably drowned, and a third said to have suffered the loss of a leg when their plane plunged into the water off James Island yesterday afternoon about 3:30, just as the Canadian Pacific steamship Princess Alice, bound from Vancouver to Victoria, hove in sight.

The Alice picked up two of the crew. One was dead. The other was taken to hospital. Search is being made for the missing crew member.

Local officials of the C.P.R. were reluctant to discuss the accident, except to admit that a crash had occurred in the vicinity of James Island and that the Alice had stopped to render aid.

Official account of the tragedy was unobtainable late last night owing to absence from R.A.F. headquarters of an authoritative spokesman.

Bernie Improved

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., April 13 (AP).—Ben Bernie today left the oxygen tent in which he has spent most of his time for eleven weeks, and his physician said he regarded the band leader's recovery as assured. Bernie was stricken with pulmonary infection with cardiac complications.

BELGIANS TRICKED

LONDON, April 13 (CP).—Germans swarmed into the Berthem suburb of Brussels and carted off a number of Belgians, including a seventy-year-old woman, for giving civilian clothes to parachutists, the Belgian news agency Inbel reported today. The parachutists, Inbel said, had turned out to be Gestapo agents posing as Allied airmen.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, April 13.—The junction of the British Eighth and First Armies beyond Kairouan and virtual destruction of all Italian units in Southern Tunisia, as well as the capture of Sousse, mark the victorious progress of General Montgomery's forces northward in hot pursuit of Rommel's fleeting Afrika Corps.

Italians once again have been sacrificed to enable their German masters to escape. One general and a lorry-load of colonels surrendered and were placed in charge of a single British sergeant.

The military correspondent of The Times says many Italian formations have been so battered they have ceased to exist as fighting units. Rommel's treatment of his ally has reached a degree of shamelessness rarely equalled. Evidently he is leaving the Italians behind to insure his own escape by sea or air. They are not required to hold the small area of Northern Tunisia that is now left to Rommel, hence the British armies are embarrassed by the number that surrender.

As German commentators correctly claim, Rommel has again eluded the trap set for him. If the Americans had been a day or two earlier, explains Captain Sertorius, Nazi radio commentator, they might have encircled the German forces to the southward of Sousse. However, as the correspondent of The Times with the British First Army emphasizes, both the First and Eighth Armies meeting near Fondouk have been able to continue the pursuit without difficulty.

The First Army's occupation of the Moslem Holy City of Kairouan, which gave the British Army a warm welcome, was facilitated by the decisive victory in the tank battle, in which the British forces, using Anglo-American Sherman tanks, destroyed fifteen enemy tanks.

The Royal Air Force continues its incessant bombardment, making the record figure of 1,000 sorties daily against the retreating Germans. Shipping in Tunis harbor has been relentlessly pounded, and shooting down transport planes, as well as sinking Axis shipping by British submarines, adds to the tale of enemy defeats and disasters.

Axis propaganda, says the correspondent of The Times, indicate the so-called new order is to be abandoned by the Germans and will be replaced by "co-operation" of other nations with Germany. The small nations, for the moment at least, are to be assured they have the right to "free development," the reason being that their help is more necessary than ever in view of the growing loss of German manpower.

No longer are the Herrenvolk claiming the "right to rule." They have now discovered all men are brothers. With this in mind, Axis propaganda will probably proclaim what will be called a "Statute of Europe," whereby, with delusive promises, another kind of new order will be imposed on the conquered peoples.

Clearly the sole reason of all this is the recent series of German defeats by the Russian and British Armies.

The Nazis in Russia have made new attacks in the Volkhov front in the North, trying to cut off Leningrad again. The only result for the enemy was 2,000 men killed.

Heavy floods delay all operations in Kuban, but the Red Army Air Arm is now pounding Krymskaya and Novorossisk.

It is apparent the Nazis are preparing new attacks on the Donets, says the Stockholm correspondent of The Times, but the initiative remains with the Russians.

* * *

Commenting on the United Kingdom budget, which heavily taxes luxuries, The Times editorially says public opinion is now better informed about the real basis of budgets than it used to be. The Chancellor, however, has shrunk from changing income tax collection so as to put it on a real "pay as you earn" basis.

Divorce Bill Is Beaten in Senate

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP).—The Senate tonight voted twenty-seven to nineteen against a bill to allow divorce courts to dissolve marriages in which one party was presumed dead.

The bill, introduced by Senator J. W. deB. Farris (Lib., British Columbia), was voted down on the second reading, meeting opposition from both sides of the Chamber.

SCHMELING CAPTURED

LONDON, April 14 (Wednesday) (CP).—The Daily Sketch said today it heard a broadcast by the Nazi-controlled Paris raido saying that Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion, has been captured by the Russians and was wounded seriously.

Allied Armored Units Punch Through Axis Rearguard in Steady Drive Beyond Sousse

Enemy Bridgehead Shrinks Rapidly as Circle Closes

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NORTH AFRICA, April 13 (AP).—The Axis Tunisian bridgehead was shrinking rapidly today under pressure of Allied advances at the south and northwestern sides of the envelopment box being drawn up before Tunis and Bizerte.

Nowhere along the front had the enemy shown any disposition to attempt a decisive stand. Everywhere, the Allied forces were making progress.

The British Eighth Army and part of the British First Army, moving up from the South, beat on beyond Sousse and Kairouan, smashing at Marshal Rommel's rearguard while his main bodies were withdrawing through the Enfidaville Line, which runs inland and northwest from the sea.

Battlefront advices late this afternoon said Allied armored units punched through meagre enemy rearguard defences south of both Enfidaville and Djebebina, towns seventeen miles apart and fifty miles south of Tunis.

WHOLE ITALIAN DIVISION CAPTURED

The Allied-controlled Algiers radio broadcast that the Allies had occupied Enfidaville, twenty-seven miles north of fallen Sousse. Substantially all of the Italian Vittoria division had been captured, it was said.

As British First Army advance patrols drove north in the direction of Djebibina, important inland road junction, French troops mopping up the Grand Dorsal Range captured Djebel Kerachouan, twelve miles southwest of Djebebina.

The French forces announced the capture of almost 1,000 Axis prisoners.

To the north, other units of the British First Army, striking out in the Medjez-El-Bab sector only about forty miles from Tunis, swept over a number of hill vantage points.

The Allied air fleets continued to strike powerful and crippling blows on the enemy, extending the assault to enemy airdromes around Tunis.

American heavy bombers attacked a big Axis convoy composed of eleven ships carrying tanks and other vessels, scoring a number of near misses which caused damage to the enemy.

BIZERTE ATTACKED, CARGO VESSEL HIT

Bizerte, the principal port and Axis-held naval base, was attacked—a cargo vessel squarely hit, the channel straddled with bombs and fires set off in the seaplane base.

At Trapani Harbor in Sicily several powered barges and a tanker were hit.

British bombers assaulted the Axis airfield at Ste. Marie Du Zit, one of those protecting Tunis itself, and left at least nineteen fires leaping up as beacons for American planes that went over later to attack the same target.

The score for yesterday was seven

Adjustment Of Income Tax Asked

Certificate on Savings Suggested

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP).—Taxation adjustments to reduce absenteeism in Canadian plants were urged by House of Commons members today and examination of their proposals was assured by Revenue Minister Gibson.

Finance Minister Ilsley said it was possible that a solution might be found in copying the United Kingdom system, which establishes a worker's income tax for a quarter of a year on the basis of earnings for the previous quarter. This left an incentive to increase earnings.

The House spent the afternoon in continued consideration of income tax resolutions incorporated in the budget presented by Finance Minister Ilsley on March 7.

With speaking engagements in support of the Victory Loan facing most of them, the members planned to begin their Easter recess on Friday.

T. L. Church (Progressive Conservative, Toronto Broadview) said the public should be told the facts of the situation whereby the use of Eire naval bases are denied the Allies. He said he had letters from constituents who had been on Atlantic ships and had seen the dangerous situation there. The bases concerned the safety of every soldier who crossed the Atlantic.

RAISED QUESTION EARLY IN WAR

He had raised the question of the Irish bases early in the war, but nothing had been done. The last convoy from Canada to England had been in grave danger from submarines, because "of the fact we have not the naval bases we had during the last war."

In the income tax debate, Mr. Ilsley said that some members had urged the taxation exemption of $660 for single persons should be raised. In the United Kingdom the exemption on the same basis was $356 and in the United States $500.

Hon. W. Earl Rowe (Progressive Conservative, Dufferin-Simcoe) raised the question of taxation adjustments which would discourage absenteeism.

C. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River) said there might be production exemptions which would encourage workmen to reach maximum levels of output.

Col. Gibson said suggestions made by members would mean that a man who worked at a daily rate would have tax deductions made at that.

Hundreds of Planes Raid On Wide Area

LONDON, April 13 (CP).—Hundreds of Allied fighter planes and fighter-bombers shuttled across the Channel for more than three hours today to rake Axis-occupied territory from Brest to The Netherlands, attacking airfields, warehouses and railway yards.

Squadrons of British, Australian and Norwegian Spitfires flew over Holland and Belgium without encountering any enemy opposition, the Air Ministry announced.

Other squadrons, including two Canadian formations and one Fighting French group, escorted Ventura bombers on attacks of Abbeville and Caen in France, where hits were scored in railway yards.

The fighter-bombers dropped explosives on airports at Brest, Caen and St. Omer in sweeps over Northern France.

Two Focke-Wulf 190's were shot down by the Allied raiders, who lost three of their own fighter planes.

Earlier in the day British Coastal Command planes attacked enemy shipping off the Norwegian coast. One plane was lost in this operation.

Admits Pushing Boys Over Cliff

GOLDEN, Colo., April 13 (AP).—Sheriff Howard Vincent said today that a sixteen-year-old youth, identified as William Wymer of Denver, admitted pushing two schoolboys to their deaths from the top of precipitous Castle Rock after robbing them of their shoes and a cheap wrist watch.

The bodies of Donald Maltas, eight, and Milo Flindt, eleven, were found at the base of the 175-foot perpendicular cliff.

Deputy District Attorney Martin Molholm said he was preparing murder charges against Wymer.

On Active Duty

ADMIRAL SIR C. G. RAMSEY

Who is in service again in the British Navy. He was recently retired after forty-five years of service, and he immediately volunteered for duty again and was asked to take the commission of commodore of convoys, a big step down from his previous rank. He quickly accepted and is now on active duty.

Bombers Go Across Alps To Hit Italy

First Raid in Two Months on North

LONDON, April 14 (Wednesday) (CP).—For the first time in two months Britain-based bombers of the R.A.F. soared across the Alps last night to attack targets in Northern Italy.

The announcement of the raid did not disclose the specific objectives, but Milan, Turin and Genoa have been hit repeatedly in previous assaults.

Heavy United States bombers based behind the Tunisian front and American and British bombers in the Middle East have struck again and again at Southern Italy in recent days.

To Negotiate Paper Strike

CHICOUTIMI, Que., April 13 (CP).—Municipal delegations from Jonquieres, Kenogami and St. Joseph D'Alma left tonight for Quebec to participate in negotiations for a settlement of the strike involving 1,275 workers at three Price Brothers Company paper mills which started last week over a jurisdictional dispute between unions.

Philippe Lessard, president of the National Federation of Pulp and Paper Workers, representing the strikers, accompanied the delegations, made up of officials of the three Lake St. John district towns.

Heavy Gunfire From French Coast Heard

FOLKESTONE, England, April 13 (CP).—The thunder of heavy gunfire rolled across the Channel this afternoon from the French coast, rattling windows in Kent.

The cannonading continued at irregular intervals for several hours, at times south of Boulogne and then in the Calais area. The tops of the French cliffs between Boulogne and Calais could be seen from here, but there were no reports of planes going out over the area.

Noise of Channel gunfire frequently signalizes action against convoys.

TWO PLANES CRASH

CHICAGO, April 13 (AP).—A flight of five service type navy planes ran into adverse weather conditions today while making practice flights from the deck of the training aircraft carrier Wolverine. Two of them crashed into Lake Michigan, killing one pilot, and a third was missing.

Two Are Dead In Attempted Prison Break

Two Recaptured at Alcatraz Penitentiary

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13 (AP).—Four convicts sought freedom in a spectacular break from rock-bound Alcatraz Penitentiary today and before nightfall all were believed accounted for—one dead, two recaptured and the fourth evidently wounded and swept to his death in the waters flowing swiftly past the island prison.

The notorious Harold Martin Brest and Fred Hunter were recaptured. Brest is serving a life term from Pennsylvania for bank robbery and kidnapping.

Hunter, forty-three, was found hiding in a cave on the north shore of the prison. He was sentenced to this island prison for harboring a criminal.

Brest, thirty-one, was pulled by guards from the bay.

James A. Boarman, twenty-four, was shot and his body went down in the bay. He was an Indianapolis bank robber.

Floyd C. Hamilton, thirty-six, member of the Barrow gang which terrorized the Southwest a decade ago, was believed wounded and drowned. Warden James A. Johnston said.

The four threatened two guards with prison-made knives, bound and gagged them, leaped from a window, and raced to the beach of the island prison. Guards in their wall towers started firing. Bullets from the guards' rifles peppered the rough waters.

The prison launch crew sighted Brest in the water. He had his arms around another man. It was Boarman, who had been wounded by the fire of the guards. Brest released his hold and the body of the convict disappeared into the bay. Brest, naked, was hauled into the boat.

Fifteen Firms Heavily Fined for Boycott of The New York Times

WASHINGTON, April 13 (AP).—Fifteen leading department store advertisers and the Retail Dry Goods Association of New York City were fined a total of $80,000 today in United States district court following the filing of a criminal information against the stores and the association, charging conspiracy to violate the advertising columns of The New York Times.

The defendants, who have forty-eight hours in which to pay the fines, were listed as Retail Dry Goods Association of New York; Abraham & Straus, Inc.; B. Altman & Company; Arnold Constable & Company; Best & Company; Bloomingdale Brothers, Inc.; Bonwit Teller; Gimbel Brothers, Frederick Loeser & Company; Lord & Taylor; James McCreery & Company; R. H. Macy & Company, Inc.; Russeks; Saks & Company; Franklin Simon & Company, Inc., and Stern Brothers.

AGREED TO CANCEL ADVERTISING

The information charged that the defendants agreed between March 5 and March 10 to withdraw their advertising from The New York Times unless the newspaper canceled a rate increase scheduled to become effective May 7. The withdrawal was part of a concerted effort established through meetings of the association, Acting Attorney-General Charles Faye said. The stores had suggested that instead of increasing advertising rates, The Times increase the price of its daily paper to five cents and of its Sunday edition to fifteen cents, which The Times refused to do.

Fahy said the information charged that the action of the association and its members "deprived readers of The Times of access to information on merchandise available to the public at principal department stores in New York City unless Times' readers read other newspapers."

Fahy said The New York Times had not filed a complaint, implying that the Justice Department had instituted the investigation on its own initiative.

Beer Supply Gone

EDMONTON, April 13 (CP).—Today was a beerless and rumless day for Edmontonians.

Beer stocks were still exhausted at liquor stores and no more is expected until May 1. The liquor stores also were out of rum and only one brand of rye whisky was available. These stocks are expected to be replenished shortly, but the "No Beer" situation will stand for the remainder of April.

PUEBLO, Colo., April 13 (CP). — Judge Harry Leddy's courtroom looked like a grocery store. When Mrs. Jesse L. Peters sued her husband for divorce, Judge Leddy ordered Peters to bring all their canned goods to court so he could divide it among the Peters and their six children.

April Quota Of Beer Gone

Alberta Liquor Stores Sold Out

CALGARY, April 13 (CP).—Calgary Liquor Control Board stores had sold out their April quota of beer by 2 p.m. today, and customers were told that there was little likelihood of any more beer for the month. J. A. King, Edmonton, chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control Board, was in the city for the day, reviewing the situation.

He was faced, he said, with a merchandising problem and was doing his best to distribute a much-reduced quota of beer as equitably as possible. The facts were, he said, that the breweries should not, under the order issued by Prime Minister Mackenzie King, sell any more beer to the Liquor Control Board this month. There was some possibility that he might be able to "borrow" a little against future quotas and make some further small quantity of beer available before the end of April.

Mr. King's attention was drawn to a statement by W. R. Clubb, chairman of the Manitoba Liquor Control Commission, and to the fact that Manitoba permit holders are allowed twenty-four pint bottles of beer a week, with a maximum of ninety-six bottles a month, if they can get it.

"Mr. Clubb is up against the same merchandising problem as I am, the problem of distributing reduced supplies," said Mr. King. The Manitoba Liquor Commission chairman knew that Alberta was attempting to meet the problem, since Mr. Clubb had spent several days with him in Edmonton last week, studying the Alberta method, said Mr. King.

Floods Claim Two Victims In Alberta

WINNIPEG, April 13 (CP) — Ice jams in the Assiniboine River forced water over the banks in St. James Municipality today and ice-clogged waters of the Red River continued to inundate areas around Selkirk, twenty miles north of here.

Blasting of the Assiniboine River ice jams was halted due to the high waters of the Red River which were backing up. The ice was jammed around the Maryland and Main Street Bridges, near the junction of the two rivers.

Saskatchewan rivers were receding and no flood danger reports were received today.

From Alberta, two persons were reported drowned. Royal Canadian Mounted Police said they received news of the drowning at Lesliesville, 100 miles southwest of Edmonton, of Sigmund Klemgersky, twenty-four, when he fell from a piece of ice, and Donald Court, eight, drowned when he fell into the flood-swollen Wastasoo Creek.

Would Remove Alex McAuslane

VANCOUVER, April 13 (CP).—The Dock and Shipyard Workers' Union, representing about 3,000 workers in Vancouver shipyards, tonight urged that Alex McAuslane, of Vancouver, vice-president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, be removed from office.

The request was made in a letter to A. R. Mosher, C.C.L. president, which was read to a meeting of the Vancouver Labor Council. The letter was signed by Charles Saunders, president of the Dock and Shipyard Workers' Union.

The letter charged that statements made by McAuslane, western director of organization for the C.C.L., "publicly undermined the efforts of our C.C.L. shipyard unions, namely the Dock and Shipyard Workers' Union and the Blacksmiths' Union to uphold their closed shop agreements within the shipyards."

Musicians to Quit Canadian Labor Congress

NEW YORK, April 14 (Wednesday) (CP) — The New York Times says in a newspage story today that the American Federation of Musicians has resigned from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress "because delegates to a recent congress convention in Winnipeg, including two members of the Musicians' Union, voted to let a children's orchestra entertain them."

The Times story says the Canadian labor representatives at the convention "booted down" an A.F.M. official who sought to object to the concert by the non-union youth group, and adds the action became known through publication in The International Musician, the union's organ, of the minutes of the federation's executive board meeting, February 6.

The story continues:

"The minutes on the matter follow.

"'Report is received from Brother Arthur Dowell, of Toronto, of an incident which happened at the convention of the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, held in Winnipeg recently, at which he was the official representative of the A.F.M.

PROTEST HOOTED DOWN BY DELEGATES

"'During one of the sessions of the convention, a children's orchestra played and when Brother Dowell attempted to object he was hooted down and declared out of order by the chairman.

"'On this occasion Brother D. Swailes, of Local 190, Winnipeg, and Ed Jamieson, of Local 145, Vancouver, spoke in favor of the children's orchestra and expressed disapproval of the position taken by Brother Dowell.

"'In view of the treatment accorded our representative and the permitting of a non-federation orchestra to play at a trade union convention, the board, on motion, decides to resign from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress.'

"'On motion, it is decided that Brothers Swailes and Jamieson be directed to show cause why charges should not be prefered against them for their attitude on this occasion.'"

Printer Pleads Guilty to Theft Of Gas Coupons

MONTREAL, April 13 (CP) —Harry Dubuc, forty-one-year-old printer employed by the Federated Press, pleaded guilty today before Judge C. E. Guerin to charges of theft from his employer and violation of the oil controllers regulations. He will be sentenced April 16.

Police said Dubuc had 2,340 gasoline rationing coupons in his possession when arrested.

They added, however, that there was no connection between his case and those of three others who will be sentenced the same day on charges of conspiracy, theft and violation of the oil controller's regulations. One of them, Jean Levesque, seventeen, was employed as an apprentice by the Federated Press which holds a Government contract for printing gasoline rationing coupons.

Levesque and his two companions were arrested last week in a Royal Canadian Mounted Police roundup which resulted in the seizure of approximately 40,000 coupons being distributed illegally and the padlocking of twenty-one service stations.

Strike Would Tie Up Plant For Long Time

ARVIDA, Que., April 13 (CP)—As Raoul Trepanier, a senior conciliation officer of the Department of Labor, tonight investigated a union dispute here involving 11,000 Aluminum Company of Canada employees, the company issued a statement to workers warning that a strike would mean the plant being closed for three weeks after the strike was over and the quality of the metal would suffer for months.

Trepanier flew to Arvida today after an American Federation of Labor union gave the company until Thursday to recognize the union as a bargaining agent and grant certain improvements in working conditions and wages. The union backed up its ultimatum with a threat of strike action.

The company replied it had already an agreement with a Catholic Syndicate union which had, previously won recognition as bargaining agent for the workers.

A syndicate spokesman has said his group represents 90 per cent of the workers and has assured the Labor Department there will be no strike.

Police officials said the plant was going "full blast" tonight and that "all is quiet."

Says Living Allowance Is Not Taxable

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP)—Liability of "dollar-a-year" men to income tax on their living allowances must be decided on the merits in each case, Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson ruled in a judgment just handed down in the Exchequer Court.

The judge held Maurice Samson of Quebec, former hides and leather administrator of the Prices Board was not taxable on his allowance of $20 a day payable during his absence from home.

"I have come to the conclusion," said the judgment, "that the per diem living allowances authorized by it (the order in council appointing Mr. Samson) involved no element of remuneration or net gain or gratuity to the appellant and did not result in any gain or profit to him.

NOT INCOME AS DEFINED BY ACT

"They were not in any sense income as defined by the income tax purposes in respect of them."

In the House of Commons today, during discussion of the budget resolutions, J. G. Diefenbaker (Progressive Conservative, Lake Centre) asked if a "dollar-a-year" man receiving a living allowance of $15 a day would be subject to income tax on that allowance. As he understood the position this man would be exempt from taxation of the allowance.

Mr. Ilsley said the Exchequer Court had ruled in one recent case that money paid as a living allowance was not taxable since it merely represented reimbursement for money spent.

It was proposed to bring in legislation covering such cases, but it would be necessary to study the various types of allowances which had been in effect since 1941. Policy for the future also would have to be examined.

Australian Minister Complains War Against Japanese Neglected

Insufficient Guns, Planes and Men Allocated To Australian Area—Invasion Still Possible

WASHINGTON, April 12 (CP).—Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific are not being allocated sufficient guns, planes and men to permit them to exploit the recent land, sea and air victories they have won against the Japanese, Dr. H. V. Evatt, Australian Minister for External Affairs, said here today.

Arriving in Washington in an effort to increase the flow of war supplies to the Pacific battlefield, the former Australian judge said Australia accepted the Allied strategy of beating Hitler first but added that it is becoming increasingly evident that it is not being administered from Washington and London as originally laid down.

Dr. Evatt held a press conference today after seeing President Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins, chairman of the Munitions Assignment Board, for half an hour. Later, he will go to Ottawa and London to lay his views before the Canadian and British Governments.

He left no doubts one one point—Australia is dissatisfied at not being represented on the Munitions Assignment Board of the United Nations at Washington.

"We rather feel," Dr. Evatt declared, "that the so-called 'beat-Hitler-first' strategy has been much misunderstood in the United States. It does not mean that, so far as it is possible, the war against Japan is not to be prosecuted with the utmost possible vigor. It does not mean that our aircraft in particular are not to sweep forward and destroy the enemy wherever he or his ships or his installations are to be found. It does not mean that limited, but important, offensives are not to be undertaken. It does not mean that preparations are not to be made for a great offensive against the enemy."

MUNITIONS SUPPLIES OFTEN DELAYED

What has happened, Dr. Evatt continued, has been that the flow of munitions to the Southwest Pacific has not been sufficient and often has been delayed. The result had been that victories over the Japanese have not been exploited, Australia still is in danger of invasion and "it is suicidal" to give Japan time to dig in.

Almost bitterly Dr. Evatt said that of all United Nations only two, Australia and the United States are fighting Japan at the point of impact in the Pacific.

Dr. Evatt said the main purpose of his trip to Washington arose from "the great difficulties of coalition warfare."

Because of geographical considerations," he continued, "the United States accepted primary responsibility for operations in the Pacific. That necessarily involved the primary assessment by United States authorities of quotas and allocations of supply.

"The war has demonstrated that these assessments have often to be made at points which are not under the direct supervision of the supreme strategical or political authorities."

At another point Dr. Evatt said that Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme Allied commander in the Southwest Pacific, does not determine what supplies he will receive and that the number of planes, tanks, guns and other materials for that battle zone is not fixed by those who set strategy. It was his contention that the supplies arriving in the Pacific should be sufficient to give effect to strategy. At present, they do not, he asserted.

"The full effect of the increasing flow of supplies," he said, "has not been felt in the Southwest Pacific as it should be, and as it has been felt in all other battle zones."

Asked if he would seek wider authority for the Pacific War Council now confined to advisory powers, Dr. Evatt said he might, but was not prepared to go into his plans to divert more weapons to the Southwest Pacific.

Will Investigate Radio Report of Invasion of B.C.

OTTAWA, April 13 (CP)—Dr. James S. Thomson, general manager of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, said today a "full investigation" will be held into the broadcast over radio station CFRB in Toronto last night, which said Japanese troops had landed on the coast of British Columbia.

Dr. Thomson said:

"We're starting a full investigation. Broadcasting false news is a breach of regulations."

The broadcast, made in behalf of the Reserve Army recruiting drive, brought telephone calls to newspaper offices from Toronto and Ontario points. An announcer interrupted a musical programme with a "special bulletin" and he said: "Japanese troops have landed in force on the coast of British Columbia." A dialogue which followed drew attention to the Reserve Army campaign.

MUNITIONS WIN NO WARS
THEY REACH THE BATTLEFRONT
TODAY, consignments of Canadian-made tools of war begin their journey on a Canadian railway. Soon, they will end it on some distant battlefront . . . in the hands of men who fight for freedom.
Canadians, fighting or working, may well say: "Thank God for our railways."
And from Russia . . . Africa . . . the Far East . . . millions of our allies echo those thanks.
For munitions win no wars until they reach the battlefront. Rail transportation is the first vital stride to that journey.
This war has proved that only your railways, organized and maintained to serve Canada so well in peace-time, are able to do this mass transportation job.
It is more than a matter of speeding supplies and men to the fighting fronts. Raw materials must be moved. War and other workers must be transported. The country must be fed. That job is being done!

THE FUEL SHORTAGE

It is difficult to make head or tail of the fuel situation in British Columbia. The more conferences are held on the subject by interested parties the more, it seems, that confusion is worse confounded. One of these conferences held on Monday here elicited some information, but since it dealt with the future supply, which must be to some extent contingent on future happenings, it cannot be claimed that the asservations made were facts. For instance, no one can know with complete assurance that the millwood cut will be 15 per cent lower this year than last. That assumption, presumably, is based on the number of hands employed in the mills now and this time last year. Are the figures known with certainty, and is it known, as well, that there will be no increase in mill hands during the coming months? Under the selective service plan the assumption is that the Dominion Government is arranging a redistribution of labor which will benefit production of all kinds of fuel and meet and overcome the shortages which prevailed at different points during the past Winter. In a matter of this kind, if the experiences of the past are any guide, authority moves with ponderous slowness, but, after all, the problem of the fuel shortage has been to the fore for a long time and something must be in train to provide a solution.

Monday's conference decided that the Dominion Government should be informed of the seriousness of the condition in this community. It is an excellent thing to press the matter on those who have assumed responsibility, but too much reliance should not be placed on action being taken. Another suggestion was that an estimate should be made of the fuel required for next Winter. That should be readily obtainable from the dealers. They know what the demand is. They should know also the extent to which it can be met, or at least be able to gauge it approximately. So far as the wood situation is concerned there is an amply supply available in the forests, as there is ample coal available in the mines. The problem is to bring it to the consumer, and after insuring that production is ample. The man-power situation is blamed in large measure for the shortage that has developed. That is a part of the problem that only the Dominion Government can solve.

There is however this to be said. Long distance control in a matter of this character is not satisfactory. That is not to suggest that municipalities for instance, should be asked to solve the problem. They have no authority over any redistribution of man-power. They should, however, be put in a position to do what they can to alleviate the shortage. There are, for instance, many heavily wooded areas in the immediate vicinity of this community. It is possible that, through some arrangement with the owners, supplies of fuel could be cut on these by working bees organized for this purpose, under expert guidance. The problem of transportation of these supplies and their delivery to homes could in part be met by co-operative voluntary effort directed by municipal authorities. To meet the situation that has developed the Dominion Government could well be expected to relax its gasoline restrictions to cope with the emergency. The labor problem affecting transportation could possibly be overcome by voluntary effort, as could also that of delivery to consumers.

There is the situation both on Vancouver Island and on the Mainland of British Columbia of all the wood necessary for fuel being available in the forests and other wooded areas, and of all the coal wanted to provide a continuous supply being in the mines. The problem is to bring it to consumers. If other means fail to accomplish this then the consumers themselves should take a hand, but in a larger way than they have been doing so far as the wood supply is concerned. Such an attempt at a solution of the problem, however, should be organized under municipal auspices. There is nothing in the way of help that may be expected from the Dominion Government in this regard, save, perhaps, a relaxation in gasoline restrictions to insure the transport of supplies.

A FATAL BLUNDER

Taking issue with Mr. King's announcement of a postwar air policy for Canada on precisely the grounds pointed out by this paper, The Montreal Gazette said this in part, in a leading editorial recently:

"What is indeed positively disturbing is the decision to shut free enterprise out of any postwar developments in the international and transoceanic (air) fields. We think we are right in saying that private enterprise has a record of superiority in international civil air transport service, and that so far as the United States is concerned these fields have been and are being left to non-government agencies as a matter of definite policy. The reverse is to be the case in this country.

"Free enterprise provided Canada with ocean travel services, Pacific and Atlantic, that were the admiration of the world. A vast trade with the Orient was established by this means, but free enterprise is to have no share in trans-ocean air travel after the war. Apart from any question of fairness, is this wise? Is there in it any assurance of the maximum efficiency which competition inspires and to which the traveling public are entitled?

"At least two other provisions set forth in the Prime Minister's statement are questionable. One of them has decidedly sinister implications. Only the Trans-Canada Air Lines will have the right to operate services across international boundaries and outside Canada. But T.C.A. may pick and choose among these services, take what it wants and reject what it does not want—reject what may be vitally necessary to other Canadian interests or communities. It does not follow that what may be of little use to T.C.A. may not be of very great value to the country which owns T.C.A. Yet free enterprise will not be in a position to do anything about it.

"Still more grave is Mr. King's declaration that T.C.A., monopolizing the trans-continental field, may also operate 'such other services of a main line character as may from time to time be designated by the Government.' The only interpretation of which this is capable is that after free enterprise has risked its capital, has done all the pioneering work, has absorbed the inevitable initial losses, and has finally built up a service to main line standard and proportions, T.C.A. may walk in and pluck the ripe fruit. Is that what Mr. King means when he says that there will remain 'a large field in which private Canadian companies may participate,' and that the Government 'will continue to encourage private companies as to develop services?'"

Now, that is putting it straight from the shoulder, and that is the way it should be. Canada's future in aviation is too real, and too vast, to be muffed at this stage by short-sighted policies or snap-judgments leading to a blind alley in the days of peace. 'Thousands of our finest young men have learned to handle airplanes, to service them, and how to fly. Will all that vast body of experience be stultified by trying to shepherd it into a single, government-owned monopoly, which is to pick and choose what it wants, regardless of the country itself? On the contrary, Canada should give aviation its head; see that there is a fair field and no favor; and profit by the disastrous and short-visioned official muddling of the years 1919-1929. After this war, Canada will have its second—and perhaps its greatest—chance in the air. We must not muff that. Many men have died to win our place—and it is a fine one—in the skies.

HE LOVED FREEDOM

Tuesday, April 13, was the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson, a great American and one of the great liberals of modern times. Third President of the United States at a critical time, Jefferson is remembered today for his love of freedom and his regard of his fellow men. One can imagine Jefferson, the thoughtful, deliberate, and self-taught, pondering over the terms of the Atlantic Charter, as a pledge of the yet-to-be-won freedom of the world of mankind. He might recognize many a phrase that he had met before, and a few, perhaps, that he had helped to originate. For this man loved freedom, and taught its ways.

We have referred to Jefferson as self-taught. He had a college education, and was a leading scholar in his time, with a good background of what was then known as classical education. This was followed by five years at the bar as a successful, practising attorney. However, what Jefferson wanted to teach himself of men, and of the world, was self-taught and self-acquired; and that, perhaps, was the part of his education which was to yield the world the richest fruits. It is not by accident that his simple, homely philosophy, his genuine hatred of oppression, and his sincere regard for the dignity, rights and obligations of mankind, are treasured in memory today wherever the English tongue is spoken.

One likes to look through Jeffersonian glasses at the world he saw; and still more so at the world he did not live to see, but which, and to an uncanny extent, he forecast. Freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly, freedom of person and of mind, all had engaged his earnest reflections. Freedom from want and from fear he would have understood, and championed. For Jefferson believed in mankind.

It is our neighbor's festival, the two hundredth anniversary of a distinguished American and a great man. May we wish our neighbor many happy returns? The world will always have room for a Jefferson, and could ill do without his like!

THREE MEN OF EIRE

The Government at Ottawa regards Eire as an alien country although it is a part of the British Empire. This fact was disclosed when the question was asked in Parliament if any aliens had been called up for military training under the Natural Resources Mobilization Act. In the return submitted by the Minister of Labor three men from Eire were listed. There was no information given as to whether these had been enlisted for service. It was explained that the policy affecting compulsory mobilization gave nationals of alien countries every opportunity to join the armies of their own lands, save, of course, in the case of lands of the enemy. To see if this end could be accomplished there has been delayed enforcement of compulsory mobilization, "as against such aliens liable thereto." An arrangement has been made with the foreign forces of Belgium, Czechoslovakia, The Netherlands, Norway, Poland, the United States of America, and Yugoslavia, "whereby compulsory mobilization is to be enforced under National Selective Service mobilization regulations against nationals of these countries." Pending this being done the opportunity is still being given to such aliens to complete enlistment in the foreign forces of their respective countries "prior to voluntary enlistment or compulsory mobilization in the Canadian Army."

The return of the Minister of Labor on the subject gave no information of what is being done about the three men of Eire, who are regarded as having come from a foreign country, and yet a country which, though neutral in the war, still owes allegiance to His Majesty. There is no explanation why only three men of Eire of military age and coming within the scope of the Natural Resources Mobilization Act were found in Canada. The assumption could well be that there must be a much larger number.

TURN O' THE YEAR

This is the time when bit by bit
The days begin to lengthen sweet
And every minute gained is joy—
And love stirs in the heart of a boy

This is the time the sun of late
Content to lie abed till eight,
Lifts up betimes his sleepy head—
And love stirs in the heart of a maid

This is the time we dock the night
Of a whole hour of candlelight,
When song of linnet and thrush is heard—
And love stirs in the heart of a bird

This is the time when sword-blades green,
With gold and purple damascene,
Pierce the brown crocus-bed a-row—
And love stirs in a heart I know.

—Katherine Lynan.

Some men have strange antipathies in their natures against that sort of food which others love and live upon. I have read of one that could not endure to eat either bread or fish; of another that fell swoondling into a fit at the smell of a rose. There are some who, if a cat accidentally come into the room, though they neither see it, nor are told of it, will presently be in a sweat, and ready to die.—Increase Mather, 1684.

Note and Comment

By SANDHAM GRAVES

Spring, the rebirth of Nature in all her secret stirrings, is pure magic. Examine the chestnut tree as it breaks from a bare-pole existence into a graceful green galleon, with fresh sails to set on the seas of space and time. One would not expect much from the brown and sticky leaf-buds rolled up tightly at the terminals of its branches. And yet, what magic proves to be hidden there! The lean buds swell and fatten; burst open at the tips, to unveil two small green leaves that have been growing secretly. The leaves unfurl, and there by magic is the green flower standard. Shift the eyes but once, and the chestnut tree has changed beyond all recognition. It has now a full and heavy set of sails. It has left its Winter port, and voyaged out on the smiling seas of Spring, long, green and pendulouf is its leafy foliage. The flower standards have inched their way erect, and now are ringed around with blossoms in the bud; those elfin merry-go-rounds where, perhaps, the fairies ride by night beneath the winking stars. Later will come the glorious petal-rains, to ring the grass below with pink and white festoons. And there will be a stately shade tree, with lilliputian chestnuts riding endless rounds in Nature's circus, unfettered, warm and free. Half a mile of chestnut trees flanking a city boulevard? It is an avenue for Titania!

Or take the knotted hawthorn. There is a quarter mile of that. Watch the green leaf sprout—as one who tries his toes in water—a little at a time. Here, there, at many a hundred points, the green tip likes the Springtime air, and stays. Stays, and grows. Grows, and cloaks the tree with Lincoln green; obscures its knotted, twisted branches, which have an elfin beauty of their own. First the leaf and then the bud is the rule with the hawthorn tree. The buds will come in tight rosettes, close-set and green at first. They, too, will try the air and like it. In the month of May, or perhaps a little sooner, the buds will break out their colors; white and red, and then a final blend of white and red alternately, until the colors merge. And there will be a quarter mile of blossoms. One could watch the hawthorn, and see its gayest cloak turn into wine-red berries, and still know less of Nature than before—for this is magic. No mortal hand contrived it.

Stand by the leaning willow—who was it said it wept?—as the linnet sings of life, and hearts, and fine-spun leaves as yellow as the morning sun. Watch those curving boughs enfolded by a cloak of yellow-gold, turning to apple-green. Stand by the mountain ash in new-found olive drab; the poplar with its cataracts of light and shade; the white birch with its black-stemmed witchery. Behold the ponderous oak awakening at its sky-framed fingertips. There is beauty in it all. There is life, renewal, the age-old promise of the Lord to man. There is new raiment for the land, a wealth of cover for the carolling birds, a new-found hope for man. We call it Spring and let it go at that. But there before our eyes, Titania goes her rounds; is greeted by the gayest, elfin guards; proclaims the fairies' holiday—the death of Winter, the coming of the flowers. Perhaps we should attend, should watch it happen. For Spring was made for man. It is God's brightest promise in a war-torn, bleeding world.

Pipeline Bridge to Be Removed—The wooden pipeline bridge that has been a familiar edifice for the past four years to visitors to the Gorge Park or boating parties on the Victoria Arm is to be demolished. City Engineer C. H. Rust told the council yesterday that the pipe, which is of wood and only a temporary affair, anyway, was useless now and ought to be torn down. It was erected in 1913 to give the city temporary connections with the Esquimalt waterworks. Recently it was discovered that there were a good many leakages in the pipe and that in case of future emergency the pipe would be of little or no assistance.

Prompt Action Appreciated—Some months ago United States Consul Levi W. Myers communicated with the Premier and the Attorney-General, Hon. Theodore Davie, with respect to the difficulties due to unionism run mad, met with by American ships in British Columbia waters. The Government took prompt action in the matter complained of, and Consul Myers is now in receipt of a communication from the Secretary of State at Washington, acknowledging the courtesy of the Attorney-General and expressing extreme gratification with the promptness displayed.

Accident in Court—On Wednesday, while the Supreme Court was in session, one of the stovepipes suddenly fell, and the room became so filled with smoke and chimney-black as to force an adjournment. What a strange anomaly to find lawyers notoriously fond of suits fleeing incontinently to avoid soot.

Letters to the Editor

No letter to the Editor will be inserted except over the proper signature and address of the writer. This rule admits of no exception. No letter should exceed 300 words in length.

PETITION AGAINST CHLORINATION

Sir,—I have been requested by the Citizens' Committee Against Chlorination to take over the position as treasurer, with authority to collect funds to defray expenses in connection with the above.

Some expenses necessarily will be incurred to carry the campaign through to a successful conclusion. May I ask that all who are able to give financial support will do so. Donations may be sent to the address below, and an official receipt will be sent to all donors. Moneys should only be paid to persons who are properly authorized, and in possession of a letter of authority signed by me as treasurer.

Those willing to send cheques or money orders, should make the same payable to "John Day, Treasurer, Citizens' Committee Against Chlorination," at 909 Government Street, Victoria, B.C.

This is a citizens' movement, and all those interested should endeavor, even in a small way, to assist in the successful conclusion of this movement to protect our "crystal pure water."

After defraying our necessary expenses for printing, etc., any balance remaining will be donated to the Solarium for the benefit of crippled children.

All services rendered are voluntary, and citizens may rest assured that such funds will be carefully protected and no useless expense incurred.

Be sure to sign the petition against chlorination, in any event.

JOHN DAY,
Treasurer,
Citizens' Committee Against Chlorination.

909 Government Street, Victoria, B.C., April 10, 1943.

CHLORINATION

Sir,—The matter of the chlorination of our exceptionally pure water is of serious moment to us all. And for that reason I am concerned to hear from the experts, and had hoped they would be as candid on their side as the opponents to chlorination. Also, it was my hope that my friend, Mr. Carmichael, would have gone to the trouble to convene a meeting on his own account in order that we might have heard the case for chlorination argued and subjected to closest examination by way of direct questions. But Mr. Carmichael agrees that the water of Sooke Lake is above the average for purity. Therefore, I submit the following questions:

1. Is it the practice to chlorinate, during peacetime, waters such as Sooke Lake?

2. Is the water of Sooke Lake subject to contamination during wartime any more than during peacetime?

3. If the enemy had designs on the water of Sooke Lake, would chlorination afford complete protection from contamination?

4. If it is the purpose of chlorination to destroy harmful bacteria, would it also be liable to destroy useful bacteria? And if all bacteria were destroyed by chlorination, would the water of Sooke Lake or any water so chlorinated be healthful to drink?

5. Since the order in council refers to "unclean waters," should Victoria be placed in the same category as those cities and districts which have notoriously unclean water?

Replying to Sir Edmund Walker (Reid), who refers to India:

6. Is it a fair comparison to make between the waters of India and Malay, where there are jungles and tropical vegetation, fevers innumerable, and odors unpleasant from decayed animals and vegetation, which often render water undrinkable even when boiled? I have lived in the tropics, and in a good healthy camp, but it was forbidden to drink the water at all, and all drinking water was imported.

The case for Duncan's chlorination has been ably covered in your editorial of Sunday's issue.

In conclusion, I speak for thousands of citizens of Greater Victoria in declaring that we are often afraid of the chemist. We do not stand in awe of the bacteriologist, and we do not belong to that shameful school of thought which would seek to inject disease germs into a healthy body; to administer poison into a healthful water system in order to destroy the suppositional bacteria which have not shown themselves in thirty years. A great teacher said: "They that are whole need not a physician, but they that are sick." I quote this in its literal sense, as I would a reference from Shakespeare.

Now is the time for the scientists for chlorination to present their best argument. For my part, I shall continue the fight for clean, unadulterated water, which can be drunk and enjoyed by fevered lips, and give a shock of pleasure to the frame, more exquisite than nectarean juice, and renews the life of joy in happiest hours.

"THE GATEWAY OF A NEW ORDER"

Sir,—Your editorial of the 4th instant strikes a note, the importance of which cannot be over-emphasized, to wit: The absolute necessity for basing our after-war plans on the things invisible, which are eternal, instead of on the things visible, which are temporal. "Where there is no vision (spiritual vision) the people perish," is a true statement borne out by historical facts which cannot be denied or ignored with impunity.

As you very well remark: "It is the first of first things of the church to preach Christ and Him crucified." By making Christ's redemptive work known, the need of man's regeneration will become, not merely a nice thing to vaguely talk about from the pulpit, but a dire need of the soul which will compel it to cry out in despair: "What must I do to be saved?"

If Christ is the rock foundation of any spiritual building and if the spiritual underlies the moral, and the moral is the base for the material, which material is only temporal, it follows then that no building (be it after-war reconstruction or any kind of rehabilitation) can be "fitly framed together" unless it is built on the right foundation, for "all other ground is sinking sand."

There have been too many instances, in this war as in the first Great War, of a direct and miraculous manifestation and interference of God in favor of the Allies, that he would be a bold man to deny these facts!

Shall we again commit the fatal error of building a magnificent superstructure on the sand? If we do, it shall again be said of it: "And the rain descended and the floods came, and the winds blew, and beat upon that house; and it fell: and great was the fall of it." "Except the Lord build the house, they labor in vain that build it."

Your editorial certainly points out the road to be taken by the prospective postwar builders, of which road the Lord says: "This is the way, walk ye in it!" Then only "shalt thou make thy way prosperous, and then thou shalt have good success." That is the only gateway of a truly new order!

I have just heard Her Majesty the Queen's speech to the women of the Empire. It was most inspiring! She laid a particular stress on the spiritual need of the Empire, and on the fact that the home is the place where the foundation of the Christian faith should be laid. Yours for the spiritual reconstruction of the world.

E. J. EEKMAN.

BUREAUCRACY

Sir,—Your editorial on bureaucracy ought to bring home to everyone the danger in which we stand of being manoeuvred into a totalitarian state. The Liberal dictatorship has taken upon itself to acquire the personal rights of communities and individuals as its prerogative, through the specious claim of wartime necessity. No one objects to necessary measures within reason, but when they become absurdities and those absurdities are foisted on the people as a wartime expediency, to give work to their bureaus I presume, Mr. King and his Administration are certainly to be congratulated in the manner by which they are riding the wartime hobby horse to its last gasp. If Mr. King wishes a plebiscite to save the face of his Administration it is an ordered and all vote like lambs because they imagine it is patriotic. That plebiscite was never intended to be implemented. It was just a trick.

Now there is a desire on some buck official's part to chlorinate Victoria's water supply whether it needs it or not. It is nothing to do with science or bacteria. The only bacteriological thing about it is that some bureau head has been asleep at the switch and has had to make a showing. Someone even praised the Government for acting without the will of the people. That is the desired Hitlerian touch for the public mind. In Germany they even find you a soul mate and you have to swallow any bilge their Government hands you and like it. What a world!

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Graving Dock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Last week a woman telephoned the city engineer and complained:

"When I came to Victoria my health was none too good, but the climate gradually improved it. Now that you have started to chlorinate the water, I feel extremely ill again. Can't you do something about it?"

The engineer had great difficulty in explaining chlorine had not yet been introduced into the pure water.

A pioneer resident told us there were many complaints about Elk Lake water before the supply was secured from Sooke and Goldstream Lakes, and one day with a great hullabaloo the current mayor turned on a valve to let Sooke water gush through the mains. For several days telephone calls and letters were received at the City Hall congratulating the council on the purity and excellent taste of the new supply. But the public did not know that the mayor had immediately turned off the new valve and switched the public back to Elk Lake because the other system was not quite ready . . . The Centenary Committee has been asked to guarantee $4,000 for the performance of an historical cavalcade at the Royal Victoria Theatre later in the year. We do not think committee members will take the risk . . . From the New York News: "We cannot see that human nature has as yet grown any lovelier than it used to be, under the bludgeonings and heartbreak of this war, or that it will do so no matter how long the war may last. Hatreds which this war has renewed and stimulated seem likely to us to leave the human race after this war in one of the meanest, most vengeful moods of all its long history. We hope this may be the last worldwide blood bath in history, but we do not think it will be. If we ever do have a world state, it will be disrupted from time to time by civil wars." Who could like a Nazi or Japanese after the atrocities committed on civilians and prisoners? Because of them we shall be paying exorbitant taxes for years to come, and that will be impossible to forget.

As a measure of protection against social disease the Worcester Federation of Women's Institutes has called for legislation making it compulsory for couples intending to wed to produce health certificates.

According to Culbertson - - -

It is not at all unusual for a declarer to make a play that he himself feels has little or no chance of success. The reason for this peculiar action is that he can see no alternative. If there really is no alternative, his virtually hopeless play may be the best available, but he owes it to himself to survey the field carefully before making his decision. Consider a case such as the following:

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ Q J 4
♥ K 8 2
♦ K Q
♣ A 8 3 4 7

WEST
♠ 9 6 3
♥ Q J 10 7 5
♦ 8 5 4
♣ J 6

EAST
♠ 8 2
♥ A 9 4 3
♦ 10 7 3 2
♣ Q 10 7

SOUTH
♠ A K 10 7 5
♦ A J 9 6
♣ K 9 2

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
4 ♦	Pass	5 ♣	Pass
6 ♣	Pass	Pass	Pass

The contract was not bad considering that if the heart ace had been on side, declarer immediately could have established a discarding opportunity for his losing club and claimed twelve tricks.

When, however, West opened the heart queen, declarer was informed, as emphatically as he could be, that the heart ace was not right. Perhaps he could not see any possibility of success unless, by a miracle, West had opened the queen from a holding of A-Q-J; whatever his reasoning was, he covered the queen with dummy's king. East won, and from that point on declarer was helpless. Struggle and squirm as he might (and did!), he could not dispose of his losing club and therefore eventually had to admit defeat.

As every experienced player knows, it is at least 1,000 to 1 that the opening lead of a queen against a slam contract could not have been selected from a holding of A-Q, hence West's actual lead of the queen virtually guaranteed that the ace was not in his own but in partner's hand. Instead of hopelessly sacrificing dummy's king, declarer should have envisaged an opportunity that might arise through a perfectly normal break of cards, namely, that East, in addition to holding the heart ace with which he was marked, also held at least three clubs. Acting on that hope and premise, the opening lead should have been ducked in dummy. Presumably West would continue hearts (not that it would matter). Dummy would duck again while declarer ruffed. Now declarer would cash all his spade and diamond tricks, reducing dummy to the king of hearts and the A-8 of clubs, and his own hand to the K-9-2 of clubs. East would now be completely out of luck. Forced to hold the heart ace, he would have to let go a club, and thereupon declarer would lead to the club ace, back to his own king, and cash the nine-spot for the fulfilling trick.

Downs Nazi After Plane In Collision

Fight in Cloud, Wings Tip to Tip

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—A Canadian sergeant, Joseph Gedak, of Estevan, Sask., was pilot of a four-engine Stirling bomber which collided in the air with a Junkers 88 during Saturday night's raid on Southwest Germany, shot down the Junkers and went on to bomb its objective, it was disclosed today.

The two planes fought in a cloud with their wings tip to tip after the grazing collision which tore off part of the Stirling's rear assembly.

"The Junkers was climbing up to attack us almost head on," Gedak said after he returned to his base. "But the Nazi must have misjudged his distance for he came up right under our starboard wing. He started firing when he was right on us."

BULLETS GO OVER HIS HEAD

The two machines struck. Part of the tailplane and part of the elevator of the Stirling were torn off. The rear gunner said the Nazi bullets went over his head when the Nazi ploughed into the Stirling.

The gunner said: "I thought we were done for. He was right in front of my turret, so I couldn't possibly miss him. In fact, he was almost blocking up all the sky when I let fly.

"He went diving steeply down with his guns still firing wildly and I saw his main plane falling off. Then his starboard engine caught fire."

"Not one of the enemy's bullets even grazed the Stirling."

ABSENTEEISM ON DECLINE

VANCOUVER, April 12 (CP)—Absenteeism in Vancouver war industry is on the decline, a survey showed today, with one shipyard attributing it to a telephone check of absentees and another to a "growing sense of responsibility by the workers." A concerted attempt to combat non-attendance which had risen above 8 per cent in some plants was begun last Wednesday at a joint meeting of workers and personnel managers.

Says Aircraft Firm Too Slow

Geddes Tells Why Government Acted

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—The Government took over control of the Short Brothers Aircraft Company to speed production, which was only a third as fast as that of other concerns making similar planes, Lord Geddes told the House of Lords today.

The action of Sir Stafford Cripps, Minister for Aircraft Production, in taking over the plant had provoked much criticism among Conservatives who feared it was an opening wedge for nationalizing industry.

Lord Geddes, in the first announcement of reasons for taking over the plant, said the company required 120,000 man hours to produce work which other firms did with 40,000.

"The firm could not realize there had to be a complete change," Lord Geddes said. His only criticism was that the Government did not act sooner.

Lord Brabazon, former Minister of Aircraft Production, also criticized the firm's lack of willingness to adapt itself to changes. The directors rejected recommendations of experts to increase production, Lord Brabazon said, leaving the Government only the alternative of taking over control.

Announce Loss Of Submarine Depot Vessel

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—Loss of the 14,650-ton British submarine depot ship Medway in the Mediterranean was announced today by the Admiralty.

The vessel went down last year but the Admiralty said the news was withheld "because at the time it was clear that the enemy did not know she had sunk and it was necessary to deny him the information while certain dispositions were made."

The Medway, launched in 1928, normally carried 400 men and was designed to "mother" eighteen submarines. In addition to her own fuel supply, she was designed to carry 3,900 tons of oil for submarines.

Italians Confirm Loss of Cruiser

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—The Italian High Command confirmed today the loss of a cruiser by the Italian Navy, presumably that sunk by United States flyers in bombing the Italian naval base at La Maddalena, North Sardinia, on Saturday.

Both the Trieste and Gorizia, 10,000-ton cruisers, were struck by the aerial fleet and later reconnaissance showed that the Trieste had sunk and that the Gorizia was badly damaged.

The Italians said also that in recent weeks the Italian navy had lost three torpedo boats and two submarines.

Eight Vessels Trapped in Ice

CHICAGO, April 13 (AP)—Coast Guard Public Relations Office announced today that eight vessels were trapped in shifting ice at the head of Lake Michigan.

The Coast Guard ice breaker recently broke a channel through the Straits of Mackinac and into the harbor of Escanaba, Mich. It had returned to its base at St. Ignace before the ships were caught.

Shifting winds were blamed for the situation in which the vessels found themselves. They entered Lake Michigan today through the straits from Lake Huron. Rescue arrangements were already under way.

Hitchens Killed

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—The Admiralty announced tonight that considerable damage had been caused to enemy patrol craft off The Netherlands coast in "short sharp engagements" with British coastal forces in the last two nights.

Many casualties had been inflicted upon the enemy personnel, a communique said.

It announced that Lt.-Cmdr. Robert P. Hitchens was killed last night.

Other British casualties were two officers and two seamen wounded during the two nights. All British ships returned safely.

CULTURE IN LENINGRAD

Saanich Council Ensuring Winter Supply of Wood

Stocks Intended to Protect Residents

Steps were taken at the Saanich Municipal Council meeting last night to ensure an adequate supply of wood fuel to the residents for the coming Winter, when wood dealers were interviewed regarding their ability to supply fuel in large quantities.

The council stressed the point that standing timber would only be made available for cutting if dealers are in a position to carry on their work throughout the year, but Reeve E. C. Warren said that if dealers are prepared to produce, they will be allowed enough municipally-owned timber to make the venture worth while.

Wood fuel operators at the meeting will report to the council within a week of their ability to cut the few hundred cords required of each.

RESERVOIR PLANS FOUND FAVORABLE

The superintendent of works reported to the council that a representative of the Department of Munitions and Supply favors the granting of materials for the construction of a reservoir to serve the Gordon Head and Cadboro Bay areas.

Because the representative reported difficulty in securing steel, a reservoir has been designed of concrete to eliminate steel except for reinforcement, the superintendent said.

In reply to a complaint from the Saanich School Board that Dr. J. L. Gayton, medical health officer, is only working part time for the municipality, Reeve Warren remarked that the municipality had the choice of either a part-time doctor or no doctor.

Councillor John Oliver's motion was adopted that the school board be informed that Dr. Gayton's actions have been confirmed by the Provincial Board of Health.

How It Started—

By JEAN NEWTON

"TWAS TWENTY-SEVEN BELLS BY THE WATERBURY WATCH

Ye ho, my lads, ye ho!
Then ho for the swash of the briney wash,
And the life of a jolly tar.
You paddle and you float in a little wooden boat
And you never know where you are.
You learn to splice and shake the dice,
And the games that sailors play.
Then ho fot the sea so damp and free
And a life on the ocean spray.

One hundred thousand of them, the crews of Uncle Sam's cargo carriers, go through fire and water day and night, to deliver our goods.

One hundred thousand of them, American merchant seamen, are patriotic, courageous, loyal, efficient and devoted passionately to duty.

Seventy-five thousand of them are always at sea, ever ready to take it and give it; the rest of them, after a few days of relaxation or hospitalization on land, are preparing to ship out once more.

Practically all infractions of discipline occur in port and are the result of the continued strain under which these front-line fighters matter-of-factly do their stuff.

The percentage of casualties in the merchant marine is five times as large as that of our armed forces; the factor of peril is due to lack of sufficient armament on merchant vessels, inadequate escort ships, slow convoys and insufficient safety devices; but the men, not fazed by expected increase in enemy attacks to say nothing of all the usual hazards of the sea, keep shipping out again and again.

There is a way of life—and one heck of a way to make a living.

Still they lose neither their sense of humor nor their love of a good tune; both of which find full vent in "'Twas Twenty-Seven Bells by the Waterbury Watch," which is a comparatively recent addition to the ranks of seamen's favorites. It was written in 1897.

The lyrics are by Arthur Augustus Powers, the music by Donald MacGregor; here are its stanzas. Intriguing and fun-provoking to landlubbers as well as young and old salts, it wouldn't surprise us if you come to the conclusion, after reading them, that they are a good recipe of

Dies on Service

LEADING SEAMAN LESLIE F. WALTERS, R.C.N.

Who has died from natural causes while serving at Sydney, Nova Scotia, according to word received by his mother, Mrs. H. Walters, 1212 Johnson Street. The remains will be brought to Victoria for interment in the Naval Cemetery, Esquimalt. Besides his mother, he is survived by two brothers, P.O. William Arthur Walters and Stanley Victor Walters. Leading Seaman Walters joined the navy six years ago and served eleven months overseas at the outbreak of war. His father, who died in 1929, served in the last war. His brother, William, is on active service at the present time. Leslie was a leading seaman at the time of his death. April 11, and was due for promotion to petty officer.

write of a certain famous Bible story:

'Twas twenty-seven bells by the Waterbury Watch
Ye ho, my lads, ye ho!
The captain was full of good old Scotch,
And the crew had gone below.
Ye ho, my lads, ye ho!
I went up aloft to the mizzen top,
To see what I could see—
When out on our right there hove in sight
A whale, size number three.
I was greatly in fear that he'd come too near,
So I leaned far over the rail,
With a terrible shout yours truly fell out,
Right into that slobby whale.

I shall never forget all the funny things I met
Inside of that queer old whale.
He was furnished out complete from his head to his feet,
I mean from his head to his tail.
Ye ho, my lads, ye ho!
He was heated with steam from keel to beam,
With bunks along the side,
And improvements all of the latest kind
For a lengthy ocean ride.
There were buttons in the side of his tough old hide
To push when you wanted a drink,
While things that were new just dawned on you
Till you did not have time to think.

All the things that occurred in that submarine bird,
It would take all day to relate.
For a very little while I lived in style,
For I simply had to wait.
Ye ho, my lads, ye ho!
But how to shake this funny old fish,
Quite filled my heart with woe,
For I could not make dock till he struck on a rock,
Or hit a torpedo.
A sudden idea just struck me here,
So I lighted a cigarette.
The whale gave a shout, turned inside out,
And I swam ashore in the wet.

QUEBEC, April 13 (CP)—The Legislative Assembly gave final reading by a vote of forty-one to twelve tonight to a bill that would allow hydro companies in Quebec Province to use United States Government silver tax free, instead of Canadian copper, as an electricity conductor. The bill would allow the companies to borrow the silver from the United States Government for the duration of the war.

Liquor Stores Soon to Remain Open All Day

VANCOUVER, April 13 (CP)—British Columbia liquor stores probably will revert to an eight-hour day when the new liquor ration system goes into effect on or about May 1, W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board, said today.

"I cannot yet say what the ration per permit will be, but you may be sure it will be small," he said. "My more than twelve ounces of spirits a month.

"Our present intention is to figure the amount of liquor we will have available for sale until the end of October under Federal Government restrictions and divide it among all the permits outstanding. That will mean that the ration will be available to the permit holder at any time he wants to take it.

"So it will not be necessary any longer to restrict sales to one hour a day, as at present, and we will go back to the former eight-hour day. That will do away with the present line-ups at the stores about which there has been so much complaint."

DIFFERENT SYSTEM USED IN MANITOBA

WINNIPEG, April 13 (CP)—W. R. Clubb, chairman of the Manitoba Liquor Control Commission, said today scarcity of beer in other parts of Canada had no direct counterpart in Manitoba because "a different system is in use here."

"Beer quotas for the month are known alike to breweries, the Liquor Commission and beer parlors," Mr. Clubb said.

"Most vendors of beer figure out how much beer they can sell each day, and when the quota is exhausted they stop the sale."

Permit holders in Manitoba are allowed twenty-four pint bottles of beer a week, with a maximum of ninety-six bottles a month. It is not unusual for brewery stores and vendors to sell their daily quotas within two hours after opening.

Longer Liquor Store Hours Are Forecast

Although the supply is likely to be severely restricted, the hours of sale will be more convenient for patrons of the liquor vending stores when, on or about May 1, the Government probably will revert to the eight-hour day, according to a statement yesterday by W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board.

Until the new liquor ration system goes into effect, it will not be possible to indicate the allowance per person. In Mr. Kennedy's opinion, it might be as low as twelve ounces per month per person.

"We can only figure the amount of liquor we have available for sale until October under Federal Government restrictions and divide it among all the permits outstanding. While the individual amount is bound to be small, it will be at least more convenient for the permit holder to obtain the share to which he is entitled."

$2,000,000 Is Goal

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Racing, which contributed $3,200,000 to United States war charities last year, has pledged itself to a minimum goal of $2,000,000 for 1943, the Turf Committee of America announced. This was the same goal set and surpassed in 1942.

Great Bombers Now Ferried by Women Pilots in Britain

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—Women pilots of the Air Transport Auxiliary in Britain, who have been ferrying R.A.F. planes from factories to airdromes, now have been given the supreme responsibility of handling the great four-motored bombers.

Three of them have already qualified for this job. At least twenty others are in the final stages of training for their tests. One out of every six ferry pilots is a woman. (The men are over-age for combat flying.) One out of every three of these women is an American.

The work of the women pilots drew praise from Sir Stafford Cripps, Minister of Aircraft Production. More than 100,000 aircraft have been delivered; mileage exceeds 30,000,000.

Esquimalt Home For Servicemen Needing Pillows

A new dormitory has recently been added to the Esquimalt Services Home, 1196 Esquimalt Road, and bedding and especially pillows are urgently needed for the use of the lads who use this centre. Such articles may be sent to Miss Ruby Blyth, deaconess in charge of the home, where gifts will be gratefully received, it was reported yesterday.

Fourteen months ago, Miss Blyth, deaconess of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, who had been loaned for the duration of the war to help with the sailors, found herself and her sailor boys homeless. This state of affairs only lasted twenty-four hours, for a new house was found, and the furniture, mostly lent by kind friends, moved in.

A year later an addition to the home in the shape of dormitories was completed. Members of the forces were able to rent a bed for the night at a very modest fee, with the result that the accommodation was completely taxed and beds reserved well ahead, which meant no room for the regular lads who call the place home during shore leave. As many as 650 beds have been used during one month. Beds have been obtained for the new dormitory, but there are just enough sheets to be in use all the time, leaving an empty linen cupboard, and there are no pillows for the new beds.

Canadian Clothing Sought to Ship To Russian People

Survivors from Russian ships wrecked on the Pacific Coast have expressed in person the gratitude of the Russian people for the clothing sent from Canada to that beleaguered country. There are no clothing industries left operating in Russia, they report, except those making uniforms for the armies.

The civilian population, bombed out of their homes, have only the clothing they receive through parcels given them by the Red Cross and other humanitarian organizations.

The Clothing Committee of the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund appeals for warm clothing to send to these brave people. Cases are being packed and sent from Victoria weekly. More is urgently needed. Mrs. W. E. M. Mitchell, convener of the Victoria Clothing Committee, and a volunteer staff are in attendance at 1010 Government Street every day except Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., to accept contributions.

All wearable and clean clothing is acceptable, but the items most desired are underwear, men's suits, overalls, shirts, sweaters, jackets, coats and baby clothes. All clothing is baled under pressure and given free transportation by the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways to shipping points. Over 200 cases have already been sent from Victoria. It is hoped to double this total.

Dancing Girl Is Ace Saboteur: Aids Norwegian Airmen

STOCKHOLM, April 13 (CP)—To look at slender, twenty-two-year-old Helen Marjorie Dallas, of London, nobody would ever know she is an ace saboteur. She worked in Norway and, if they would talk, chances are many young Norwegian airmen training in Canada would say they owe their escape from the Nazis to this girl.

Among the 9,000 Norwegians who have escaped to Sweden since the Germans occupied Norway few can have a more thrilling story than this dancing girl.

Legally she is Norwegian for she escaped internment by paying a young Norwegian $125 to marry her and so acquired Norwegian citizenship. She saw her husband only twice—the day she married him and early in March of 1942 when she gave him another $125 to get a divorce.

Miss Dallas was one of the linchpins of a nation-wide organization which enabled Norwegians to carry out sabotage, to escape and spread Allied propaganda. She carried on this work for three years.

Her friends finally persuaded her to leave the country after several of her colleagues had been tortured by the Gestapo and a like fate threatened Helen.

Honors for Brides-Elect

Miss Grace McKerracher, who is to be married soon, was the guest of honor on Monday evening at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Joyce Cowley, at her home, 2315 Wark Street. The bride-elect and her mother, Mrs. D. McKerracher, received corsage bouquets of carnations and daffodils and the gifts were hidden under a decorated umbrella in colors of purple, mauve and white. Games and contests were enjoyed, refreshments being served during the evening. The invited guests included: Mrs. G. Stewart, Mrs. F. Cowley, Mrs. G. Lennox, Mrs. L. Troop, Mrs. F. Frewing, Misses Dorothy Cronk, Alice and Sylvia Moylain, K. Fowler, Dorothy Jealouse, Margaret and Phyllis Stewart, Marjorie Olton, Hilda Biggs, Myra Crowe, Edith and Evelyn Hitchman, Dorothy and Gwen Price, Ruth Wallace, Vera Carter, Kay Morris and Mary Cowley.

R.C.A.F. Personnel Aiding Blood Bank

Twenty-six pints of blood donated voluntarily by R.C.A.F. personnel at a West Coast station yesterday afternoon considerably aided the blood bank being built up at St. Joseph's Hospital. Doctors in charge are Flt. Lieut. F. B. Bryson and F/O. J. R. Jackson, and visits will continue weekly until all donors wishing to contribute have done so.

Two sisters and two nurses from the operating room staff of the hospital accompany other helpers on these visits, among them being Mrs. H. E. Ridewood, Mrs. G. Rose, Mrs. Russell, Mrs. A. Marshall, Mrs. McNaughton, Mrs. Chrysler, Mrs. C. McCharles and others.

DR. OLGA JARDINE, PH.D.

WHO accompanied by her mother, Mrs. M. Gloy, will leave Victoria on May 1 for Hamilton, Ont., where she will join her husband, Mr. E. I. W. Jardine, inspecting officer with the United Kingdom in Canada Inspection Board. Mr. Jardine has been stationed in the East for the past year, and until March was in Quebec.

The departure of Dr. Jardine will prove a great loss to business and social circles in the capital, for her activities have been widespread. For two years Dr. Jardine has acted as liaison officer for the National Y.W.C.A. War Services; she holds the position as vice-president of the National Council, Y.W.C.A., for British Columbia, and is immediate past president of the Victoria branch of the Y.W.C.A. Until March, Dr. Jardine was president of the Provincial Council of Women, and for four years has been chairman of the Mothers' Allowance Advisory Board, a Provincial Government appointment, the board consisting of three women and two men.

On leaving the West Dr. Jardine will resign from the Dependents' Allowance Committee, which functions under the Dominion Government. Born in New Zealand, Olga Gloy graduated from the University of New Zealand and took her Ph.D. in chemistry and nutrition at Columbia University. She was attached to the staff of the University of Otago, Dunedin, N.Z., as associate professor of home economics, and following her marriage took up her residence in Victoria. Mr. and Mrs. Jardine will return after the war to their home, 1340 Despard Avenue.

Celebrate Golden Wedding

The Brentwood Women's Institute and the Saanich Board of Trade held a reception recently at the Brentwood Women's Institute Hall, Brentwood Bay, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Wallace, Brentwood Bay, the occasion being their fiftieth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace were married in Victoria in 1893 by Bishop Cridge. They have one daughter, Mrs. H. B. Ruth, of Eugene, Oregon; two grandsons and one great-granddaughter.

The hall was beautifully decorated with tall baskets of plum blossom, daffodils and hyacinths. Lectures on Voyage Of St. Roch Raise $3,000 for Charities

Corporal F. S. Farrar, R.C.M.P. has returned to duty at his station in Esquimalt after a successful tour of Vancouver and vicinity, during which he lectured on the historic Arctic voyage of the R.C.M.P. schooner St. Roch, which voyaged from Vancouver to Lunenburg, N.S. through the famous Northwest Passage.

Corporal Farrar, a member of the crew which undertook the epic voyage, spoke to capacity audiences at no fewer than thirty-three lectures before clubs, schools and churches, showing photographs taken during the long journey and vividly describing the adventures that befell the crew during their stay in Arctic waters.

The lectures raised the sum of $3,000, which has been divided between the Red Cross, Aid to Russia Fund, Milk for Britain and various churches.

Many Applications Received for Sugar

More than 3,400 applications for sugar, to be used in canning and jam making were checked by the volunteer workers under the direction of Mrs. A. E. Hopkins, a member of the local ration board, yesterday afternoon in the City Hall Council Chamber.

Mrs. Hopkins stated the staff, numbering less than twenty, is made up of expert clerical workers and checking will continue all this week.

Contribution of Refugees Explained by Miss Hayward

A different attitude towards immigration, especially in the post-war period, was the challenge contained in a comprehensive talk before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel, by Miss Constance Hayward, who called her address "The European Refugees' Contribution to Canada."

Miss Hayward dealt with the refugee question from many angles, and suggested a "different attitude, for it is useless to think we are going to develop a broad-sided attitude just by signing a treaty." She stated, in revealing the money brought by refugees into Canada, and the businesses set up by these people, businesses that in many cases employ numerous Canadians, that "they will make good citizens if they feel they are wanted to belong."

Stress was laid on the refugees who have been received into universities, and the speaker reported that these students are popular both with the faculty and other members.

Nine thousand children of people in Germany and Austria were sent away by parents from their homes. "They gave their children away," said Miss Hayward, "rather than have them under the Nazi." Of these the British took 60 per cent and they are installed in private homes and in public schools.

Miss Hayward, who is attached to the Canadian National Committee on Refugees, told "of this and that family I know," and related personal conversations with these people without a country, who, as one woman expressed it, left their homeland "to save their souls."

The speaker devoted some time explaining the various works these people undertake. In Saskatchewan a refugee produces Polish hams, a product famous in former days in Europe, and as Switzerland is the effort that at the present time the United States and England have ordered all his production.

"People had a fear, especially labor groups," said Miss Hayward, "that the advent of the refugees might interfere with existing work, but this has been shown to be wrong. They brought a lot of money, speaking generally, they have set up new businesses, and have provided jobs."

Capt. Tallium Thompson was enthusiastically applauded at the conclusion of his solo, "Oeuvre Tes Yeux Bleu," which was followed by "Hills of Spring," and to acknowledge the continued appreciation he sang, very beautifully, a Negro spiritual, "Were You There?" The accompaniments were artistically rendered by Mrs. G. A. McCurdy.

Mrs. F. G. Aldous was chairman at the meeting.

against Port Moresby, New Guinea.

Commenting upon the strategic potentialities of the war in the Southwest Pacific, MacArthur said:

SEA LANES IN ENEMY'S CONTROL

"The Japanese, barring our submarine activities which are not to be discounted, have complete control of the sea lanes in the Western Pacific and of the outer approaches towards Australia.

"Control of such sea lanes no longer depends solely or even perhaps primarily upon naval power but upon air power operating from land bases held by ground troops all supported by naval power.

"The first line of Australian defence is our bomber line.

"The range of our air force over surrounding waters marks the stretch of No-Man's-Sea, which is the measure of our safety. If we lose the air, naval forces cannot save us.

"Conversely, if the enemy wins control of the air, his naval units can at once bring forward convoys of ground forces to continue his attack to the southward to a limit imposed only by the effective range of his land-based air support.

"A primary threat to Australia does not therefore require a great initial local concentration of naval striking power. It requires rather a sufficient concentration of land-based aviation. As a matter of fact, Japanese naval forces in great strength, although now beyond our bomber range, are within easy striking distance of Australia.

"The vital factors therefore in the Southwest Pacific, with its littoral of countless island groups and innumerable archipelagic reaches are the air forces to strike and the ground forces to conquer and hold. The allied naval forces can be counted upon to play their own magnificent part, but the Battle of the Western Pacific will be won or lost by the proper application of the air-ground team."

HEAVY BOMBERS STRIKE AT DUSK

The Allies' heavy bombers in the Hansa Bay raid struck at dusk.

"A 10,000-ton cargo ship, hit three times by heavy bombs, was left burning from stem to stern and probably sank," said today's communique.

"An 8,000-ton merchant ship was smoking heavily amidships following direct hits with 500-pound bombs and its condition was precarious.

"After dark, a possible hit or close miss was registered in a low-level skip-bombing attack on a 3,000-ton cargo vessel."

Allied raiders also strafed the Mubo area, some fifteen miles south of Salamaua, where Japanese troops are threatened by Allied ground forces moving north on the approaches to both Salamaua and Lae. Lae's airdrome and dispersal areas were bombed and the runway of the airdrome at Finschhafen, on the Huon Peninsula north of Lae, also was raided.

In New Britain island's wide bay, a four-motored Allied bomber attacked a Japanese coastal vessel.

In the area to the northwest of Australia, a two-motored bomber struck on the Kai Islands at the village of Koiseer, causing large explosions. The plane also strafed two coastal vessels.

Dislodge Germans

Particularly fierce fires were seen in a machine-shop area, it added. A power plant, an airdrome, a railway junction and military stores were attacked, the announcement said. Flames from fires would be seen sixty-five miles away, flyers were quoted as reporting. Two Russian planes failed to return.

German planes were directed against cities, rail junctions and troop columns. Among places bombed or approached by air were Rostov and Batajsk at the gateway to the Caucasus, Kursk in the centre and Leningrad in the north.

Russian flyers and ground batteries were credited with destroying twenty-five planes that attempted to raid Krasnodar in the Western Caucasus. Five Russian planes were lost.

Soviet guerrillas in the Smolensk region derailed a German troop train on March 26, smashing a locomotive and nine cars, and killing twenty Germans, the communique reported.

Two days later guerrillas on another sector mined a rail line and blew up an engine and thirteen cars, killing or injuring 300 Germans.

Adjustment Asked

rate, so that if he stayed away from work for some days he still would have deductions made. In the end a refund would be due him, but in the meantime he would have the same amount deducted as the men who worked a full week.

Special arrangements had been made for those engaged in intermittent work. Their receipts were averaged out so deductions could be made which were not on the daily rate for the days worked.

PART OF DEDUCTIONS AS SAVINGS

Mr. Ilsley said he believed employers could help by explaining that part of the income tax deduction was savings.

He was impressed with the suggestion about the English system of making a flat deduction on the basis of earnings for the previous quarter.

"It might be possible to go a considerable distance towards doing that here," he continued. "It could not be done in some industries, I presume, but it might be done in many industries and it might be the best way of overcoming this difficulty.

"I am informed that it could be done by order in council, that it does not require legislation."

Col. Gibson said there had been consideration whether a special certificate should be issued showing the amount of compulsory savings standing to the credit of a taxpayer, but no decision had been reached.

The Finance Minister reviewed a resolution providing that when a sale of assets took place between persons with common interests the depreciation allowed for taxation shall not exceed 100 per cent of the cost of the assets before the sale took place.

Unless there was this provision it might be found that business established during the war and paid for out of profits during the war would be transferred so that depreciation might be written off again, Mr. Ilsley said.

About ten times as much money had been invested by the Government in war plants as had been spent on extensions by companies under agreements for rapid write-offs. The problem did not arise with respect to Government property, but there had been a considerable investment by the companies.

FOR RELIEF OF INSURED SOLDIER

G. K. Fraser (Progressive Conservative, Peterborough West) said a taxpayer should be allowed to deduct from the savings portion of his income tax dues the amounts paid to maintain an insurance policy for a soldier. He cited the case of a man overseas now who had policies amounting to $7,000 before he enlisted and could not maintain the premiums from his present income.

Mr. Ilsley said soldiers were paying insurance premiums and the lapse record was lower for soldiers than for the civilian population.

"Who is paying the premiums?" asked Hon. R. B. Hanson (Progressive Conservative, York-Sunbury).

Mr. Ilsley: "They are paying them."

Mr. Hanson: "If you are to refer $1.30 (a day), someone else must be paying it."

Mr. Ilsley: "The rate is not $1.30 for most of them, it is $1.50."

Mr. Hanson: "That is quite a debatable question. When we come to the War Appropriation Bill I should like to ask some questions about that, because I am getting a number of letters from men who are not being paid the higher rate. I think the base rate is $1.30 and you cannot pay insurance premiums out of that."

The minister said he would consider suggestions that premiums paid on soldiers' insurance be allowed as offsets against the refundable tax portion, but he could not hold out "too much hope."

Punch Through

Axis planes shot down to two lost by the Allies.

The United States Army Air Force based in Cairo reported meanwhile that heavy bombers had again attacked Naples Harbor, scoring hits on the Mole and near the shipbuilding works, and also had attacked Cosenza, Crotone and Pizzo in Italy. One bomber was lost.

There was every indication that such shipping as the Axis had left was being used in costly attempts not to take off Axis troops but to try to supply them. Reuter's News Agency carried a roundabout report that 4,000 Italian troops had died in an Italian transport torpedoed off Tunis by a British submarine but did not say which way the transport was going.

HEAVY DAMAGE

LONDON, April 13 (CP)—Reconnaissance photographs showed tonight that the daylight attack by Mosquito bombers yesterday caused heavy destruction at the Cockerill Works near Liege, one of Belgium's largest engineering plants where submarine shells, guns and munitions are made for Germany, the Air Ministry News Service said.

Shawnigan United Church W.A.

The annual Spring remnant sale of the Women's Association of the Shawnigan Lake United Church was held in the S.L.A.A. Hall, Shawnigan Lake, recently. A good crowd attended and a satisfactory sum was realized. Mrs. W. G. Challis, wife of the minister of the Mill Bay and Shawnigan churches, opened the sale with a few words of appreciation for the work done by the members. Mrs. Challis was introduced by Mrs. J. B. Bell, president of the W.A. Remnants, aprons, dainty garments for tiny tots, home cooking, produce and miscellaneous articles were on display at the stalls, which did a thriving business. A bran-dip for the children, contests and refreshments were added attractions. A feature of the afternoon, and a lucrative one, was a mail box contest at which the prize was a handsome cushion, made and donated by Mrs. J. H. Richards. The winner of the cushion was Mrs. P. Skrimshire. Winners of a pin contest and a song title contest were, respectively, Mrs. W. Smith, and Miss May Johnston and Miss Thelma Brewer (tie). Because of the difficulty in providing tea, sandwiches and cake, the refreshments consisted of sausage rolls, potato salad and lemonade; a choice which proved popular.

New Symbolic Dress Creation

FOUR freedom prints, newly created around the ideals of the Atlantic Charter, bring fashion into the headlines this week. Sketched above, left, charming Maypole design expressive of freedom from fear, and the silhouette into which this print has been made. Note the suggestion of asymmetrical draping in the bow neckline and skirt. Waistline too is slightly lowered. At right (top) freedom from want—lush cornucopia and wheat design used in a softly draped afternoon dress with bow trim on hips. Left, below, freedom of speech in a classic dress with the new side buttoning so much used now to replace zippers. Right, freedom of religion in a comfortable all-day coat dress with original neckline handling.

C. C. Pemberton Honored By Tree

Honoring the memory of the late C. C. Pemberton, a white pine tree on the Millstream Road near Langford, where Mr. Pemberton planted it about twelve years ago, has been fenced and will be marked with a plaque, thanks to the interest of the Department of Public Works, which cleared away the rubbish and provided the fence.

Mr. Pemberton, a recognized authority on trees, was recently acclaimed in a letter from Surrey, England, where there now stands in Petersham churchyard, by the grave of Captain George Vancouver, an arbutus tree, which was sent from Victoria to England during the Jubilee year of 1936.

The white pine tree now preserved in Mr. Pemberton's honor is said to be a rare specimen. Situated on land adjoining the Yew Tree Farm of H. Gafford, the tree is believed to be the only fully grown one of its kind in the district.

Little Stories for Bedtime

STRIPED CHIPMUNK HAS A SECRET JOKE

Of all the little meadow and forest people none is brighter-eyed, merrier or more beloved than Striped Chipmunk. He likes best the edge of the Green Forest where the old stone wall separates it from the Green Meadows, and there the Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind go to play with him every day. He dearly loves the sunshine, and it seems as if he must have some secret way of taking it right into his small self, for he is so sunny-hearted that he brightens even the gloomiest day. No one can have a long face when Striped Chipmunk is about. Yes, sir, it must be that he has some secret way of taking in the sunshine. You know, he is very fond of secrets and has some of the very nicest ones. He keeps them, too. No one can keep a secret better than Striped Chipmunk. That is because he keeps it wholly to himself—doesn't tell even so many as one, which is the only way to keep a secret.

If you tell one and he tells one,
Your secret's known by three.
But just one more will make it four;
It can no secret be.

On this particular morning Striped Chipmunk was in the best of spirits. He whisked in and out between the stones of the old wall, raced along the top, chased his tail and did other foolish things just to show how happy he felt. Farmer Brown's Boy, throwing sticks up in the chestnut trees to knock down the nuts, stopped two or three times to laugh at him, and though Farmer Brown's Boy didn't know it, Striped Chipmunk laughed back. Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Happy Jack the Grey Squirrel heard them both laugh and they scowled. Yes, sir, they scowled. Then they said things, unpleasant things, to Striped Chipmunk and Farmer Brown's Boy. They scolded as fast as their tongues could go.

Farmer Brown's Boy didn't mind. In the first place, he didn't know that they were scolding him, and if he had he wouldn't have cared, because he is so much bigger than they that the dreadful threats they made would only have tickled him if he could have understood them. And Striped Chipmunk didn't mind. Bless you, no! He only chuckled and laughed the more as he listened to his two angry cousins.

"What are you laughing at and having such a good time about?" asked one of the Merry Little Breezes. "Tell us, so that we can laugh, too."

"It's a joke, the best joke ever, but it's a secret joke," replied Striped Chipmunk.

"Don't Chatterer and Happy Jack know it?" demanded the Merry Little Breezes.

Striped Chipmunk laughed harder than ever. "They don't know it is a joke," said he. "They think it isn't, but it is. Really it is."

The Merry Little Breezes laughed just because Striped Chipmunk did. They just had to. "Has Farmer Brown's Boy anything to do with that joke?" asked another Merry Little Breeze.

Striped Chipmunk nodded as if he were trying to nod his head off. "He's all of it!" he cried.

The Merry Little Breezes looked at Farmer Brown's Boy very hard, but they couldn't see any joke. He looked to them just as he always did. Then they gave it up, rumpled Striped Chipmunk's hair, and raced over to help Farmer Brown's Boy get the brown nuts by shaking the tops of the trees. And when they did that Striped Chipmunk laughed harder than ever and Chatterer the Red Squirrel and Happy Jack the Grey Squirrel scolded harder than ever.

Striped Chipmunk Laughed Harder Than Ever

Katherine Dunham and Her Dancers Give Rare Treat

Katherine Dunham and her dancers revealed something very different in the art of dancing last night to an enthusiastic and responsive audience at the Royal Victoria Theatre. Based on West Indian material, with the last portion of the programme devoted to jazz and Negro plantation scenes—Katherine Dunham, choreographer extraordinary, has compiled an entertainment that will linger long in the memory of those fortunate enough to attend the original and vital performance.

There is life, and action in the dances. There is a primitive quality that contrasts oddly with the ultra modern effects achieved by the dancers, and there is superb showmanship throughout. The dancers are intent in their individual roles, and these merge with a vibrant liveliness that brings a quickening tempo to the act, a dramatic climax that is as inevitable as it is satisfying in each case.

STUDIED PRIMITIVE DANCES

Katherine Dunham has given deep and intensive study to the dances, through the medium of a fellowship she was enabled to study these primitive steps in their natural habitat in the Caribbean and in Brazil. She also studied the cults and customs and knows the meaning that underlies the native dances where ritual and folk lore are the inspiration.

Her programme last night was divided into four parts, opening with the Primitive Rhythms where a Melanesian folk story is enacted, followed by the Rumba Suite, where lighter, breezier elements are introduced after the abstract work of the first number. The third portion, devoted to Rites de Passage strikes the deepest, most significant passages of the evening. Here are depicted the ritual periods and the choreography, the miming and the dramatic intensity of the dancers all combine to present a beautiful racial interpretation.

With lightning speed the mood was changed from the impressive Death Ritual, in which Katherine Dunham appeared as the Matriarch, and the audience was intrigued with the impertinent school girl, and two musicians in Rhythm Interlude. Katherine Dunham again evidenced her varied art by appearing first in Bahiana, with its intricate steps, followed by Tropics, a shore excursion where she is the Woman With a Cigar. Here all the wantonness that could beguile is amusingly displayed, against a backdrop advertising Sloppy Joes.

Katherine Dunham says: "My work is chiefly abstract, and not authentic. It means more when its creative work," and that perhaps is the secret of the Dunham dancers—they love their work, and they apparently dance because they can't resist the urge. There is utter spontaneity in their gestures, and the complete naturalness so essential with their type of dance seems to be inborn, and not acquired.

The vivid and bizarre costumes, and the cleverly designed stage sets are the work of Katherine Dunham's husband, John Pratt. The music which is such a feature of the entertainment was also a part of the original set-up for Miss Paquita Anderson, pianist, is also the composer of the music, she and Miss [illegible] together working up their dances.

Katherine Dunham and her dancers were brought to Victoria by Hilker Attractions.

Princess Spends Day With Guards

LONDON, April 13 (CP).—Princess Elizabeth spent today with a tank battalion of the Grenadier Guards, of which she is honorary colonel, in her first public engagement entirely on her own.

The heir presumptive to the throne, a slight figure in a utility coat and turquoise blue skirt, stood alone on a dias draped with the Guards colors of red and blue and answered the royal salute of the troops with a smile and nod of the head.

The Princess will be seventeen on April 21.

She paced smartly along the lines of guardsmen, pausing frequently to speak with the men.

On an upswept brim hat, the Princess wore a gold Grenade pin of an officer and pinned on her lapel was a diamond brooch, badge of the regiment, given her by its officers on her sixteenth birthday.

When the ceremony was finished she climbed atop a tank to inspect the turret and asked to be shown how it worked.

Federal Official Here For Talks on Northwest

Russell K. Odell, of the Federal Mines and Resources Department, arrived here from Ottawa yesterday for week-long talks with provincial officials in connection with a Canada-United States study of the possibilities of economic development of the Northwest.

Mr. Odell said his visit was in the nature of a "co-operative study" with interested officials, and that no formal conference will be held. After a week in Victoria he proceeds to Portland, Ore.

BEST AMERICAN PLAY

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—Sidney Kingsley's story of the early and troubled formative years of the United States—"The Patriots"—won today the annual award of the New York Drama Critics' Circle as the best American play of the current season.

At the Theatres

Cohan Life Story To Open at Atlas

"Yankee Doodle Dandy," which opens today at the Atlas Theatre, will be Santa Claus to vaudeville old and newtimers in Hollywood.

The Warner Bros. picture, starring James Cagney as George M. Cohan, uses scores of acts, the story being not only Cohan's life but a cavalcade of show business in America from the 1870's up to today.

Michael Curtiz, who directs, opened what was practically an old-time vaudeville booking office at the studio. Jugglers, acrobats, buck and wing dancers, bicycle acts, tramp comedians, skirt dancers, every type of act that ever played a Keith-Albee house, Hippodrome or Palace were signed for a spot in the picture.

CAPITOL THEATRE Thrills of battle and convoy duty in the Pacific provide the most eventful drama of the sea since "Mutiny on the Bounty," in M-G-M's "Stand By For Action," starring Robert Taylor, Brian Donlevy and Charles Laughton, is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. While on convoy duty the destroyer in the film, stops and picks up twenty babies and two women adrift in a lifeboat. The crew is assigned to take care of the children . . . and believe it or not, they do a good job.

CADET THEATRE One of the most diversified musicals to reach the screen in many months is Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Panama Hattie," which ends tonight at the Cadet Theatre. Starring Red Skelton and Ann Sothern, the film is fast-moving with an excellent human story, an exhilarating comedy routine, elaborate production and tunes you'll whistle on your way out.

RIO THEATRE The girl of 1943 was the most vital girl in feminine history, according to Joan Crawford, perennially popular film star who makes her screen appearance tonight at the Rio Theatre in "Today We Live," in which she is co-starred with Gary Cooper. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production is based on a story by William Faulkner, celebrated author of "Light in August" and "Sanctuary."

YORK THEATRE In makeup, Margaret Wycherly is a perfect double for "Ma" York, the real-life character she portrays in Warner Bros.' "Sergeant York," starring Gary Cooper and Joan Leslie.

PLAZA THEATRE "In Which We Serve," Noel Coward's masterful drama of the history of a destroyer, which ends tonight at the Plaza Theatre, is a tribute to the greatness of the Royal Navy, and there is no Englishman alive who would not with all his heart applaud such tribute to his navy.

OAK BAY THEATRE Greer Garson is cast as a modern wife in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's film "When Ladies Meet," which ends at the Oak Bay Theatre tonight. In this romantic comedy-drama she is starred with Joan Crawford, Robert Taylor and Herbert Marshall. The role Miss Garson plays is ideally suited to her talents, allowing her to go all-out modern, but to retain those feminine qualities which have brought her success.

DOMINION THEATRE "I'm so wicked—it positively makes me shiver!" That's Joan Leslie, seventeen-year-old star, describing her role in Warner's "The Hard Way," which is now playing at the Dominion Theatre. Up till now, Joan has been seen on the screen as the sweet, wholesome type, wooed and won in conventional style, and living happily forever after. "Just imagine," girlish Joan said on the set of the picture, "I disrupt the lives of three men." She nodded toward them—Ray Montgomery, Jack Carson and Dennis Morgan.

Finance—Commerce—Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—Suspension of last year's freight rate increases by the Inter-State Commerce Commission today brought heavy early selling in the securities market but enough late support appeared to cushion the decline substantially.

Railway stocks and secondary bonds, as well as many industrial shares, dropped at the opening. Losses in the stock department ranged from 1 to more than 3 points on blocks of 10,000 Southern Pacific, 8,000 Lackawanna, 4,000 United States Steel and many others running to 1,000 or more. Offerings soon dried up and, after midday, extreme declines were halves in numerous instances. At the close, there was a scattering of most advances.

The Associated Press average of sixty stocks was off .2 of a point at 47.2, after being down .6 at noon. Of 894 issues traded, 456 were lower, 228 higher and 210 unchanged. Transfers totaled 1,408,040 shares compared with 1,266,000 the day before.

Prominent stocks on the retreat included Santa Fe, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Chesapeake & Ohio, Union Pacific, United States Steel, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Deere, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Cerro de Pasco, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, J. C. Penney, United States Gypsum, Texas Company and McIntyre Porcupine.

Ending on the upside were Norfolk and Western, which showed a gain of 2 points on small volume, Standard Oil (N.J.), Radio Corporation, Homestake, Dome Mines, United States Rubber, Western Union, General Electric, American Can, International Harvester and J. I. Case.

2. Rural areas in which electrical service is not now available; (a) number of potential consumers; (b) potential sources of electrical energy for such rural areas; (c) proposed methods of furnishing service.

3. The feasibility of supplying numbers of presently isolated communities from "grid" transmission systems and central production plants.

4. Preliminary estimates of the capital cost of works proposed for increasing the supply and availability of electrical service.

5. Estimated rates under which electrical service may be furnished under proposed plans.

6. The financial problems involved in furnishing electrical service including: (a) Whether financing of extension projects can be handled by existing utilities; (b) whether rates pursuant to extensions could be carried by new consumers without concurrently increasing unduly costs to existing consumers; (c) if projects cannot be on a self-sustained basis, how could they be financed?

7. Any other technical and economic information in respect to rural electrification within the province.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

THE DAY'S WASHING

Recent hockey results back in Manitoba and down in California goes to prove one thing, and that is the brand of puck-chasing in the Vancouver Island League last Winter was of high calibre. There can be no argument against that statement, and if you fans didn't realize it at the time, just send a query out to the following cities Vancouver, Calgary, Regina, Winnipeg, San Diego and Los Angeles and see what kind of an answer you will receive. If that was a $64 question everybody would hit the jackpot at once . . .

The Army club, of course, swept through the Prairies like a forest fire aided by a strong wind; they became hotter as the pressure got stronger and they left Calgary and Winnipeg spectators in a daze and wondering at the same time if it was true that their "heroes" were now on the side lines looking on. It was a bitter pill for them to swallow, but they had to take it and like it at the same time . . . Some of those Calgary and 'Peg sport writers, who have been scribbling about the fastest game on earth for many years, are still hiding out after they impressed upon their subscribers each day that: "Victoria has a good club but they lacked the scoring punch and finesse of our boys" . . . Down in California the Navy lost two of the three games to San Diego club, but finished on even terms in goals scored and then won the play-off, a victory which put them up against Montreal Canadiens in a special series. The sailors didn't beat a bunch of amateurs or semi-pros, but a club bolstered by the addition of six well-known performers from the N.H.L. . . . Yes, the hockey in the Island league was pretty good after all.

IN THE MAIL BAG

Dear Joe: In a recent edition of your paper you wrote the following, and I quote: "Navy hockey team playing that series in California must have had their eyes opened when Doug Bentley scooped up a loose puck near his own net and skated through practically the whole sailor machine, flipped a pass to his brother, Reg, took the return, and beat Chuck Rayner without any trouble."

Last Saturday night in California, Bobby Goldham scooped up a loose puck and skated through the San Diego Skyhawks and beat Goalie Broda without any trouble "unassisted." How about a little credit to the Navy team once in awhile in your column?

A supporter of the Navy hockey team.

D. M.

Comment: I am going against ethics of the newspaper game in printing your letter without your name and address, so next time just jot down your signature and place of residence. Your initials, if they are yours, don't mean a thing to me, but the penmanship gives me a strong hunch you are a lady supporter of the Navy squad. You did not give me much time or a chance to hand a few orchids to Bobby Goldham. Another thing, a glance back over Sunday's paper a little closer and you will see the story of the Navy's triumph in a prominent place and Goldham's name in black type under the heading. The sailors got plenty of breaks during the hockey season, and I think you will agree that we give credit when credit is due and that applies to all the services.

ODDS AND ENDS

Bob Mair, one of the city's most popular and best athletes, pounded the beat for the City Police Department yesterday for the last time for the duration at least. He has left the department to enlist in the Royal Canadian Air Force and, despite his 200 odd pounds, he expects to finish his course as a pilot. Mair was prominent in J.B.A.A. rowing circles, played English rugger for the same association and with the "rep" fifteen in McKechnie Cup series and Canadian football for the Revellers when that club won the British Columbia title the season they disbanded . . . Remember when: Twenty-three years ago this week, back in the days when a wrestling match was a whole night's work, Champion Joe Stecher and Strangler Lewis, writhed for more than three hours before a big New York crowd? Stecher, on that occasion, retained the title of world's champion, but in 1928 Lewis took it from him. Now-a-days the books don't list professional world's champion wrestlers, simply because there are oodles of them all over the globe . . . If it wasn't for the two big "sevens" he had, one on the first round and the other in the second time out, Ernie Brachat would have headed the field in the Gorge Vale tournament for the Maynard Cup by a wider margin. Even at that he finished two wallops to the good to win the cup for the second straight year, the first time this has been done since the silverware was presented in 1936 by Hub Maynard . . . Directors of the Seniors' Northwest Golf Association from various cities will gather here Saturday at the Oak Bay Club to decide whether or not to stage another wartime tournament. The chances are the veterans will vote in favor of continuing, and they should, for they have been aiding the war effort in a big way since hostilities broke out.

Victoria Training Hard for Series

Army Hockey Squad Working Out Regularly for Allan Cup Final

By ERIC SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG, April 13 (CP) — A team that knows just when and where to pass the puck—Victoria Army—is all set for the Allan Cup final, regardless of what squad they meet.

The soldiers last Saturday eliminated Winnipeg R.C.A.F. Bombers to win the Western Canada senior hockey championship for Vancouver Island for the first time. They are holding daily workouts here prior to the arrival of the Eastern representatives, and the first game of the Canadian best-of-five final here next Monday.

None of the team members appear much concerned whether it will be Ottawa (Army) Commandos or Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers, last year's Allan Cup winners. Commandos currently are leading the Flyers two games to nothing, with one match tied, in a best-of-five Eastern final.

Lieut. Bud Ray, coach and manager of the Victoria outfit, tonight declared his team in first-class shape, and said the squad would get down to more serious workouts beginning tomorrow.

Built around an all-star goalie, Cadet Art Rice-Jones, Victoria boasts of two well-balanced forward lines backed up with a stout defence.

STRONG DEFENCE BACKS GOALIE

Rice-Jones, thirty, was a member of Elmwood Millionaires, of Winnipeg, when they won the Canadian junior championship and was goalie for Winnipeg senior Monarchs when they won the world championship in 1935. In 1940 he went to Calgary, where he played for Stampeders in the old Alberta Senior League.

Backing him up on defence are: Pte. Nick Metz, star with Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League last season; Pte. Julian Sawchuk, former Edmonton junior who turned professional with Philadelphia Ramblers in 1940-41, and Pte. Hughie Sutherland.

Playing Coach Bill Carse, former Chicago Black Hawk star, is still receiving treatment at the local military hospital for the injuries sustained during the third game of the Winnipeg series. Torn shoulder ligaments put him on the shelf for the remainder of the play-offs. His place has been taken by George Agar, who played with the Winnipeg Army team this season in the senior circuit.

The forward lines consist of Pte. Joffre Desilets, former member of Montreal Canadiens N.H.L. team; Pte. George Agar, one-time star with Saskatoon Quakers in the Saskatchewan Senior League, and L.-Cpl. Elmer Kreller, member of the Edmonton Athletic junior team that won the Western Canada title in 1939, but lost to Oshawa Generals in the Canadian final.

On the other forward line are Pte. Sammy Kennedy, who played for the Detroit Red Wings farm club in the old Michigan-Ohio circuit; Pte. Pinky Melynk, star last year with Cleveland Barons in the American Hockey League, and Pte. Mel Lunde, formerly with Calgary Stampeders.

Alternate team members are Ptes. Gerry Bobrosky, Aine Dufault and Ray Reigner, who is trainer and sub-goalie.

Flyers Win Golf Match

R.A.F. Captures Challenge Cup

Royal Air Force shotmakers came through with a neat victory at the Colwood Golf Club on Sunday when their team finished with an average net score of seventy-nine to win top honors in the Inter-Service Challenge Cup tournament. Officers of the Navy, Army, R.A.F. and R.C.A.F. took part in the event along with many more from the various ranks. Real golfing weather greeted the large field, which was estimated by the committee to be close to 100.

Senior officers taking part were: Maj.-Gen. A. E. Potts, Brig. R. A. Fraser, Capt. E. L. Armstrong, R.C.N., and Wing Cmdr. Gibson, of the R.A.F. The former presented the prizes in the clubhouse dining-room after supper was held. It was announced at the time that it is planned to hold these tournaments about every six weeks.

MEMBERS OF WINNING TEAM

The low gross four-man-team competition was won by the Army No. 1 team with a score of 325, with the Navy No. 1 foursome in second place. Members of the Army squad were: Lieut. J. H. Bell, 2nd Lieut. W. T. Winter, Lieut. W. A. Bush and Capt. R. G. Likely. The low net four-man-team event went to team of senior officers and cadets from the Royal Canadian Naval College with a score of 311. Members of the team were Lt.-Cmdr. L. A. Brown, Sub-Lt. A. W. Gillespie, Cadet J. F. Chipman and Cadet J. F. Howard. Runner-up in this event was the team from No. 5 Camp Ordnance composed of Capt. Drummond, Lieut. Kennedy, Lieut. Ord and Lieut. Finnie.

Following individual prizes were won during the afternoon:

Low gross: 2nd Lieut. W. T. Winter, Army, 76; runner-up, Sub-Lieut. D. J. Donovan, Navy, and Sqdn. Ldr. A. E. Armitage, tie, with 78. Low net: Sqdn. Ldr. A. E. Armitage, R.A.F., runner-up: Capt. J. L. Drummond, Army.

Hidden Hole, low: Lieut. R. H. Van Wyck, Army; 2nd Lieut. Winter, Army. Hidden Hole, high: Lieut. W. M. Whyte, Navy; Pay sub-Lieut. H. G. Pollard, Navy. Consolations: Lieut. E. J. Taylor, Army; Lieut. F. D. Banwell, Navy.

A special trophy was presented to Maj.-Gen. Potts, general officer commanding the Sixth Canadian Division, for his assistance in handling the event.

Odds Dropped on Count Fleet by Betting Experts

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—As a result of his four-length victory today in Jamaica's $6, James Purse, Count Fleet dropped to 4-to-5 odds in the Kentucky Winter book quoted by Broadway and Louisville betting commissioners.

The drop came only a week after he had been held at 7-to-5 odds by the same commissioners.

At Louisville Mrs. John D. Hertz's Challenger was quoted at 1-to-2 to place and 1-to-5 show.

Old Rosebud, winner of the 1914 Derby, was the even-money choice two weeks before that race to establish the previous shortest odds.

EDDIE, Arcaro, the "riding fool" of the turf, may hit the jockey jackpot May 1 at Churchill Downs if he gets a chance to ride in the Kentucky Derby, due for its sixty-ninth running at the historic Louisville track.

The "jackpot" for Arcaro is three Derby wins, the record now held jointly by the veteran Earl Sande, victorious in 1923, 1925 and 1930, and the negro rider, Isaac Murphy, aboard the champion in 1884, 1890 and 1891. Arcaro has been aboard two Derby winners, Lawrin in 1938 and Whirlaway in 1941.

Before Arcaro can think of bringing home a winner come May 1 he must first get permission to return to the saddle after being set down last Fall after his ride aboard Occupation in the Cowdin Stakes at Aqueduct.

Arcaro and two other so-called "bad boys" of the turf, Don Meade and Wayne Wright, will appear before the New York Jockey Club's licence committee within a few days to get the official okay to ride in the New York season, which gets under way with the Jamaica meet, opening April 8.

Meade was grounded for his riding in the Correction Handicap at Jamaica last Fall and Wright got his suspension by permitting Riverland, the "Cinderella" horse, to come too close to Boyssy in the Continental Handicap, also at Jamaica.

Both Meade and Wright are among the topnotch jockeys in the business. Meade first hit the headlines when he rode Brokers Tip to victory in the 1933 Derby, engaging in a rough stretch battle with Herb Fisher, aboard Head Play, which was out in front in the stretch, only to lose by a nose to Brokers Tip, an eight-to-one shot.

Wright rode the winner of the last Derby, Shut Out, as his chief claim to fame although six years ago he triumphed in the Santa Anita Handicap with Top Row.

Arcaro almost had his "triple" last year. Given his choice of the Greentree Stable's entries, Devil Diver and Shut Out, Arcaro picked Devil Diver, which had compiled a much more creditable record as a two-year-old than had Shut Out, sired by Equipoise. As all race fans know, Shut Out won the classic and Devil Diver finished a badly beaten sixth.

All three jockeys have been grounded before. Meade was off the turf for many months when he was accused of betting on other mounts but his own by the Florida officials. Meade's last Derby appearance was in 1935 when he was up on Boxthorn, a Bradley horse which finished sixteenth behind Omaha, the winner.

Count Fleet In Easy Win At Jamaica

Derby Favorite Down in Front

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—Count Fleet came to the races today for the first time this year—and definitely proved he is no myth.

The Kentucky Derby glamour horse—shortest-priced Future book favorite in Derby history—did it the hard way, too—over a sloppy track, spotting weight to a couple of other well-liked Derby candidates, and running into some bad racing luck. And still he won by four lengths.

For Jockey Johnny Longden, native of Taber, Alta., the once-around the Jamaica track was like a ride on a merry-go-round—that's how easy it turned out.

The Count broke well, was carried wide at the first turn, recovered and moved into a contending position throughout the first seven-eighths of the mile-and-seventy-yard race. Then he turned it on, caught up with William Woodward's pace-making Bossuet at the head of the stretch and went right away from there. He hit the pay-off window in the excellent time of 1:42 4-5.

Bossuet was four lengths back of the Count and five in front of M. Shifkin's Towers, who took the show spot by a head from Four Freedoms, one of Mrs. Payne Whitney's standard-bearers for the Derby, Famous Victory, wound up fifth.

A surprise entry in today's tussle, Mrs. John D. Hertz's Count Fleet was knocked down to $2.30, $2.20 and the minimum $2.10 for win, place and show. The victory was worth $1,950 to the Count, boosting his bank roll to $78,195.

He'll try it again Saturday in the $25,000 Wood Memorial here and then head for Louisville.

Cards Are Selected

St. Louis Named To Win Pennant

By WHITNEY MARTIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP)—The uncertainties of this year failed to bring any uncertainty to the minds of the baseball experts as to which team will win the National League pennant.

Figuring it always is best to string along with a champion when in doubt, the seventy-two scribes taking part in the annual Associated Press poll selected the St. Louis Cardinals as their No. 1 team by an overwhelming majority.

Fifty-four of the voters picked the world champions for first place, with no ballot placing them lower than third. The Brooklyn Dodgers, runner-up last year, ranked second, drawing eleven first-place votes, thirty-five second-place votes and no vote lower than fourth.

The only other team to be considered for first place are the Cincinnati Reds, with four backers for the top position, and the Chicago Cubs, who have three voters picking them for the pennant. The Reds ranked third, right behind the Dodgers, figuring on the point basis of eight points for first, seven for second, six for third, etc.

Behind the Reds, in order, came the Cubs, the New York Giants, the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Boston Braves, and, as usual, the Philadelphia Phils.

The Cards and the Dodgers are the only two teams not to be pushed back into the second division by at least one voter. The Reds were tickeled for every place from first to sixth, and the Cubs from first to seventh. The Giants were picked to finish anywhere from second to seventh.

Many voters, although they gave the champions such an overwhelming vote of confidence, made a note of the fact that their selections were based purely on the prospects of the various teams as of that particular day.

There are two Morrisons in the British National War Cabinet, Herbert Morrison (Labor), Home Secretary and Minister of Home Security, and W. S. Morrison (Conservative), Postmaster-General.

President Charlie Lewis has made a strong appeal to the public to attend the fixture. Before the opening whistle the Victoria Boys' Band will be on hand to render selections, and they will fill the air with more music during the halftime rest period.

Midway in the second period, Blake put Les Canadiens in front, and the Bentley trio followed within a minute and thirteen seconds with three spectacular goals.

Forty-Five Nominated

Canadian Race Classic May 22

TORONTO, April 13 (CP). — The Ontario Jockey Club announced today that forty-five thoroughbreds have been nominated for the eighty-fourth running of the King's Plate at Woodbine Park on May 22, headed by W. F. (Willie) Morrissey's fleet Arbor Vita.

Nominations for the three-year-old classic, oldest continuously-run race on the continent, totaled thirty-four in 1942.

The Parkwood Stable of Oshawa, Ont., and James G. Fair, of Cainsville, Ont., each named five for the 1943 running, while H. C. Hatch, of Toronto, nominated four.

Others who nominated more than one are W. E. MacDonald and W. T. Northgrave with three nominations, and the Four Oaks Stable, Harry Giddings, of Oakville, Ont.; J. E. F. Frowde Seagram, of Waterloo, Ont.; Medway Stable, of London, Ont., and C. George McCullagh, of Toronto, with two.

Arbor Vita, leading two-year-old money winner in Canada last year with a bankroll of $10,015, earned Winter-book favoritism to bring Morrissey his third Plate in as many tries by winning the richly-endowed Mrs. Orpen's Cup and Saucer at Dufferin Park in October.

Morrissey, Toronto hotel owner, won the King's Plate in 1939 with Bunty Lawless and repeated the next year with Willie the Kid.

Rated close to Arbor Vita in early speculation on this year's running are Cosgrave Stable's Appas Tappas, MacDonald's Tulachmore, Riverdale Stable's Gallant Foe, the Halch pair of Sweep Lad and Grandpal, and three Parkwood nominations — Astrometer, Talipat and Raglan.

Clubs Study Draft Rules

Baseball Bosses Waiting Results

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—Baseball executives today were pondering the effect of the United States Government's newest draft regulations on baseball, but were waiting to see how many players will be affected before they decide what to do.

Some baseball men believe the new regulations will be helped and others may be hurt.

New York Giants and Cleveland Indians are two of the teams which expect to receive a lift from the order directing that fathers of children born before September 18, 1942, be placed in 3A and deferred as long as possible.

Ray Mack, second baseman of the Indians, recently was classed 1A by his draft board and notified to be ready to answer a call for induction. Since he has an eighteen-month-old baby, however, the Indians now believe he will be returned to a 3A classification.

Sid Gordon, rookie third baseman who has figured large in the Giants' plans, is in a similar situation.

On the other hand Branch Rickey, president of the Brooklyn Dodgers, expressed the opinion today that the ruling would hurt some clubs, including his own, because it would speed up the induction of childless players.

Kirby Higbe, one of the Dodgers' pitching mainstays, and Reserve Catcher Dee Moore have no children and Rickey said he now expected they might be inducted within a few weeks.

One point on which the ball clubs still are in doubt is whether or not "expectant fathers" will be placed temporarily in class 3D, a bracket set up to take care of cases of hardship for men with dependents. Some draft boards have granted such deferments in the past.

Season's Winners Receive Awards

Highlighting the close of one of the most successful seasons in its ten years of existence, the Victoria Table Tennis Association staged its second presentation dance at the Crystal Garden on Monday evening. A large turnout of members and their friends were in attendance and enjoyed a well-arranged programme.

The function marked the close of the 1942-43 campaign and during the evening Group Captain S. L. Pope, D.F.C., presented the league trophies to the winning teams, and individual trophies to leading players in each division. First division honors were captured by R.A.F. No. 1 squad, while the Flyers' No. 3 aggregation won the second division title. Lewis' Shoe Store gained the junior championship. Ab Renfrew, L.A.C. Longbotham and Keith Olson were presented with individual awards for heading their respective divisions.

St. Louis Squad May Lose Brown

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—As this is written it looked very much like Jimmy Brown might be coming in fast before long to field a Jap or Nazi for Uncle Sam's team instead of a bunt for the St. Louis Cardinals.

If Brown leaves the Cardinals, their pennant chances could very well go with him. Three times he has demonstrated that he is the "V" for victory as far as the Cardinals are concerned. When he was absent on the three occasions the club went into a state of suspended animation. His return was just like snapping your fingers in front of a hypnotized person.

The Cardinals have suffered other heavy losses. Terry Moore is gone, and so is Enos Slaughter, and that means two-thirds of the outfield. Johnny Beazley won't be back to win his twenty-one games. Martin Marion went out with his appendix for six weeks.

But even with these losses the Cardinals still could be considered a decided pennant threat. They still have pitching, and their solid organization permits them to bring up replacements for other missing members. Maybe not as good as the original members, but still pretty good.

Replacements for everybody but Jimmy Brown, that is. He's one of those machine parts you can't replace just by reaching into a bin. Something very special is the little guy from Jamesville, N.C. He's just a good, average hitter, and a good, average fielder, but he has something that is necessary to the team as a whole. Maybe it is the will to win that in some mysterious way he injects into his teammates.

Anyway with Jimmy on deck the Cards play winning ball. When he's out they don't.

GRAPHIC GOLF

BY BEST BALL

One of the most aggravating faults that beset the run-of-the course golfer is failure to turn the left hip aside, out of the path of the downstroke. When the left side stays more or less in the position it occupied at address, it sets up a barrier through which the left hand is unable to pass as it descends. Of necessity, this arm therefore must pull up short, slowing up the velocity of the swing and causing a collapse of the swinging effort. As this occurs just prior to the actual impact, one needs little imagination to perceive how far the ball is going under such circumstances.

Oftentimes even experienced golfers have periods of trouble concerning this very fault. For instance, in one national tournament, Francis Ouimet employed a heavier club for some iron shots than was necessary in order to ease up on his stroke. These efforts invariably went astray and Ouimet had just about despaired over the situation when Bobby Jones told him he was not getting his left side around. Whereupon Francis went back to the lighter clubs and hit hard. This effort forced the left hip aside and put an end to the trouble. The illustration above shows a left hip shifted well away from its original stance, leaving a clear path for the

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 13 (AP).—The season is at hand for selecting this year's major league pennant winners, though we can't see what good it will do this year when the team you pick in April may be just a bunch of individuals in uniform by October . . . At any rate, here's what this department has to offer in the way of selections:

NATIONAL LEAGUE

To pick a winner, just pick a Card; They're full of pep and try so hard. But never overlook the Dodgers. A bunch of ancient, draft-free codgers.

The Reds rely on muscle magic. If they're not third, it will be tragic. The Giants, Pirates and Cubs come next, As pennant contenders they're all hexed.

The Braves and Phillies are in the rear With very little or cheer.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

The first-place vote goes to the Yanks, As hard to stop as Sherman tanks. Boston comes second, on a guess, Because we like the Indians less. Despite the ballyhoo for St. Louey, The Browns are fourth, and that's no hooey.

Then Tigers, White Sox, Senators, A's, Who are lucky if in the league they stays.

Clair Berry, the Tigers' traveling secretary, never goes to ball games because he's afraid he might become a baseball fan and "let my prejudices as a fan interfere with my work with the boys."

Carpet Bowling

Results of matches in the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League are as follows:

A. and N. Cup—A.O.F. Beadles 20, A.O.F. Robin Hood 15.

Open Doubles—Fairall and Fay 30, Kirchin and Cull 15.

Triples — Leiper, McMillan and Findlay 20, Kirchin, Jordan and Knight 15; Colvin, Whittle and Wood 21, Cull, Thomas and Pannell 13.

WEDNESDAY'S DRAW

Open Doubles—Whittle and Wood vs. Fairall and Fay; McKenzie and Baker vs. Bryant and Hutchinson.

Singles—A. Findlay vs. W. Cull.

THURSDAY'S DRAW

Kiwanis Cup Final — Willows Shamrock (W. Cull skip) vs. Willows Rangers (J. Leiper skip).

Poile in Air Force

FORT WILLIAM, April 13 (CP).—Bud Poile, nineteen-year-old centre star of Toronto Maple Leafs National Hockey League team, said on his return to Fort William that he has enlisted with the R.C.A.F. and expects to report for duty April 20 to train for air crew.

The constitution fo Liberia, African republic, is modelled on that of the United States.

Pep to Face Wilson

PITTSBURGH, April 13 (AP).—Willie Pep, twenty-one, featherweight champion, was signed today to meet Jackie Wilson, thirty-three, former N.B.A. titleholder, in a twelve-round bout April 26.

It likely will be the last fight as a civilian for Wilson. His draft board has notified him he is to stand his final physical examination next week.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

COMPOSITION 14

Good arrangement makes this picture striking. A few simple rules of composition, wisely applied, will help you improve your own pictures.

PICTURE "composition" is a word that need frighten no one. It means arrangement, which can be either good or bad. A good composition is one that pleases and satisfies the eye.

Certain rules, however, have been worked out to guide you in improving the arrangement of your pictures. But they should be used only as guides, and not followed blindly in every case because various compositions differ radically. Among these rules are:

Do not divide a picture, or let any line divide a picture, into areas of the same shape and equal size. For instance, the horizon line in our illustration falls below the centre of the picture. If it ran directly across the centre, the picture would be weakened and less effective.

Second, do not place the subject of most importance in the exact centre of the picture, or too close to any margin. The figures here, which are the most important part of the picture, are somewhat off-centre, and the picture is the better for it.

Finally, remember that vertical lines steady a picture and lend dignity. Horizontal lines suggest peace and quiet. A diagonal line is dramatic, and suggests action and excitement.

Follow these rules in general. Memorize them and try to apply them to your own picture making. And remember that any arrangement which appears pleasing to your eye is probably well composed, and you'll have this matter of photographic composition licked before you know it.—John van Guilder.

Court of Appeal

The Court of Appeal opened its April sittings yesterday morning with one civil and six criminal appeals on the list for hearing.

Four judgments in appeals heard at Vancouver were handed down by Chief Justice D. A. McDonald.

The appeal in Johnson & Stockdill vs. Grossman was allowed, Mr. Justice Fisher dissenting.

The court allowed the appeal in Towne vs. B.C. Electric, dismissing the action with costs here and below.

The Rex vs. Lunn Lin On appeal was dismissed.

The appeal in re McNamara Estate was allowed, Mr. Justice O'Halloran dissenting. The applicant-appellant was awarded $1,000 out of the estate, to be taken proportionately off all legatees, both specific and residuary.

The appeal was dismissed in Rex vs. Langs et al.

A number of motions were heard, the first brought by J. McInnes to quash the appeal in Spelman vs. Spelman on the ground the appeal was from an interlocutory judgment and therefore out of time. Carew Martin, K.C., opposed the application and the court reserved decision.

H. W. Davey was successful in his application to traverse the Hymie Saperstein vs. Kenneth Charles Drury et al appeal to the Vancouver sittings.

The Roach vs. Roach appeal was set over to Vancouver for hearing. Sinclair Elliott appeared for the petitioner and advised the court the appeal books could not be obtained before May 14.

The first appeal opened was from the judgment of His Honor Judge Shandley, rendered February 17 last, in Reginald Genn, executor of the last will and testament of Maude McLaren Holden, deceased, plaintiff-respondent, and Dorothy Ivy Holden, executrix of the last will and testament of Clement William Holden, deceased, whereby he awarded the plaintiff the sum of $1,000 and costs for arrears of rent. The appellant alleges in his appeal he was released from the payment of rent by his mother under a separate business transaction and therefore was not indebted to her. H. W. Davey with Sydney Child is appearing for the defendant-appellant and W. H. M. Haldane for the plaintiff-respondent. The case continues today.

Peremptory list: Genn vs. Holden, at bar.

Mr. McGillivray will outline plans for the organization of farm labor emergency relief in this area.

Waste Fat Drive For Schools Far Beyond Objective

Expect Collection Of 20,000 Pounds

Original plans for the "Explosive Commando" fat salvage campaign in Victoria and district schools called for a special showing at the Atlas Theatre on April 17, which would be free to any child who brought to his school at least one pound of waste fat by April 9.

The response, however, has been so enthusiastic that on Saturday the Atlas, Dominion and Capitol Theatres will be open to the children, and another special showing will take place on April 24 to take care of the remainder of the young fat salvage collectors.

It is expected that more than 20,000 pounds will be collected through this campaign, sponsored by the Salvage Corps of B.C., Famous Players Theatres and the Victoria Rotary Club. Already 19,546 pounds have been collected, and 5,290 free tickets to the special matinees distributed as awards.

BOY MAKES LARGE CONTRIBUTION

An outstanding example of the work the children did is Norman Hansen, ten years of age, of Albert Head School, who collected eighty pounds of fat. At one time he delivered a tin containing thirty-seven pounds of fat by wheeling it for three miles over bush roads and bad trails in a battered baby carriage. His brother and sister collected forty-six pounds between them.

In addition to being given a free show, the children of the district who collected the largest amounts of fat during the campaign will receive valuable prizes in the form of War Savings Stamps donated by the Rotary Club.

Facilities are available at New Method Laundries, Ltd., for the decontamination of clothing, and members of the laundry staff will take a full course in decontamination at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, Inspector A. H. Bishop, A.R.P. controller, said yesterday.

This project is the first of its kind to be undertaken in Canada, Inspector Bishop said.

Instruction will be given by Dr. C. S. Beals, provincial gas officer, and Dr. Lincoln Cromwell. Arrangements for these precautions against gas attack were made with the co-operation of W. F. Pinfold, president of the laundry.

Yukon Ranger Captain Resigns Commission For Younger Officer

Air mail dispatches from Dawson, Yukon, bring word that Captain F. E. Envoldsen, officer commanding Yukon Rangers, Unit No. 135, has resigned his commission and handed over the command to a younger officer.

The eighty-year-old veteran of three wars, adventurer, prospector, traveler, author and pioneer of the Northland, was given the task of organizing and recruiting 150 men for the Yukon unit of the Pacific Coast Rangers. Recruiting opened on February 2 and by the end of the month the unit was up to full strength.

Though resigning his commission, Captain Envoldsen still remains with the Rangers in the ranks, and is perhaps the old soldier ever known of to resign his command and stay with the company in its ranks.

Mr. Envoldsen has been public librarian at Dawson for many years and is one of the outstanding pioneers of the North.

"Clean-Up" Week Most Favorable For Garden Work

The date of the annual "Clean-Up" Week sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, now in progress, was carefully chosen in order that the best results might be secured, chamber officials announced yesterday. It will conclude on Saturday.

At this time, they state, the need for war gardens, favorable weather and lengthening evenings are inducements to householders to perform outdoor tasks. Further, it is noted, garden work may be done more easily now than in a few weeks when grass and weeds are well advanced.

The statement continues:

"During the past year or two a great deal of old metal and other salvageable material has been disposed of for war use through the valued efforts of the Salvage Corps of British Columbia. Also, much rubbish and loose material of all kinds has been accumulated and burned by persons preparing war gardens.

WANT USELESS MATERIAL DISCARDED

"Naturally, we are anxious to see this good work continued, but we are anxious, too, that anything and everything whatever that cannot be disposed of in these ways be placed conveniently near the regular city garbage can. Special arrangements have been made for its removal by city workmen without charge during the whole week of our campaign.

"In addition to this type of clean-up work, we are advocating general fence and building repairs and improvements, which, together with painting of fences, stairs, verandas, and even the whole house, and redecorating inside, all represent a valuable contribution to the general clean-up idea.

"Altogether, these operations by householders constitute a real community effort, and serve many desirable purposes, including greater cleanliness, reduced pests, improved appearance, lowered fire risk, enhanced values, increased comfort and higher morale."

Officer Tells of Enemy Espionage

Gossip and Rumor Weapons of Enemy

How apparently useless scraps of information can when fitted together into a comprehensive whole, form a dangerous weapon in the hands of the enemy spy or saboteur was the theme of an address given by Major Harold Bray, in charge of intelligence at Pacific Command, before members of the Kiwanis Club at a luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

Classifying enemy intelligence aims under the headings of espionage and sabotage, he warned against the attitude that "it can't happen here," and declared that in daily talks, letters, and telephone conversations, the enemy is present.

"There are those in our midst who have enemy sympathies," he stated. "Then there are other groups who have a grouch against the state or don't like the government. Espionage," he added, "is not the glamorous thing of the movies, but a painstaking job. It functions through the gathernig of scraps of information and fitting them together as a jig-saw puzzle."

To illustrate his point, he told how, in one instance early in the war, such details as a dockyard worker's remark that a certain ship had had three hundred new bunks built, a joke about fifteen hundred drill uniforms and pith helmets being sent to Vancouver in October, word of embarkation leaves and boys arriving in Vancouver in October, when put together, formed the story of troops being sent to Hong Kong. Had it occurred after December 7, 1941, he said, the entire contingent would surely have been lost.

"Sabotage is usually thought of in terms of wrecks but there is also psychological sabotage which is brought and spread by rumor, going on in our midst," Major Bray said. "Norway and France were examples of the power of enemy psychological sabotage."

While the Joint Services Security Intelligence Bureau, formed of public relations, police and the armed services, functions to further the education of the public with regard to the need for security, Major Bray declared that every member of the armed forces, active and reserve, is working in the interests of intelligence.

"Security of information and security of personnel is absolutely essential, and we must guard it and kill rumor at every opportunity," he said.

Preceding the speaker, nominations were held for delegates to the Chicago convention in June, those chosen being Walter Walker and Harold Diggon, with Alastair Campbell and Art Dowell as alternatives.

Make Effort to Keep Dogs From Gardens

Efforts are being made by Alex Kennedy, city poundkeeper, to prevent dogs from running at large and damaging Victory gardens. Mr. Kennedy said yesterday that all dogs running wild in Victoria, whether licensed or not, would be impounded.

There are 2,300 licensed dogs in the city, 2,200 in Saanich, 600 in Oak Bay and 225 in Esquimalt. Municipal officials also plan to keep their animal populations in check.

In the city impounded licensed dogs are released on payment of a $1 fee, but the fine is $3 in the case of an unlicensed male and $5 for a female. Licences are included in the two last named amounts.

Public Utility Plan Discussed

A preliminary discussion on plans of Victoria and Vancouver to acquire assets of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., was held yesterday morning by Premier John Hart, Mayor Andrew McGavin and Mayor J. W. Cornett, Vancouver.

Premier Hart suggested the two mayors consult neighboring municipalities to ascertain whether they are interested in the utilities plan. He said another conference would then be held when representatives were appointed.

Publicity Bureau Protests Against False Broadcast

A vigorous protest against the fictitious news bulletin read over a Toronto radio station on Monday night that Japanese troops had landed in British Columbia, and followed by an appeal for recruits for the Reserve Army, has been lodged by the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, Commissioner George I. Warren announced yesterday.

A letter has been sent to Dr. James E. Thomson, general manager of the C.B.C., in which it is pointed out that adverse publicity has been given this section of Canada, and that steps should be taken to prevent repetition of similar broadcasts.

Copies of the letter have been sent to the following with a request that action be taken: Department of Trade and Industry, Vancouver Board of Trade, Vancouver Tourist Association, and Alderman G. R. Worthington, Vancouver, president of the Evergreen Playground Association.

Concert Series for Services Concluded

It was announced yesterday from the Naval Barracks in Esquimalt that the concerts which have been held every two weeks in the Royal Victoria Theatre have been discontinued for the Summer months.

Since November, this popular concert series, designed primarily for the men and women of all the services, has been providing Sunday entertainment of the highest quality.

In drawing this series to a close, naval officials responsible for presenting the concerts expressed their appreciation to the general public for the splendid support accorded this worth-while endeavor.

Provided further that nothing in this By-Law contained shall render the licensed occupier of any gasoline shop liable to any fine, penalty or punishment for the sale of any gasoline or oil immediately required for the use during the period set for closing as herein provided where the quantity of gasoline in the motor vehicle for which the same is required shall be less than three (3) gallons as measured according to the prevailing custom.

3. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained the provisions of this By-Law requiring the early closing of gasoline shops shall not extend to nor affect the closing of said shops in respect of the period from December 18th to December 24th, both inclusive, in any year.

4. Any person who commits a breach of any provision of the Shops Regulation and Weekly Half-Holiday Act or of this By-Law shall be liable on summary conviction to a fine or penalty not exceeding One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars and costs, recoverable and enforceable in the manner provided by the Summary Conviction Act.

To Make Survey Of Student Help For Farm Work

Saanich schools will undertake an immediate survey of student labor available for farming operations, it was announced yesterday. Pupils in Grades VIII to XII will be asked to indicate if they wish to work on farms during June and the Summer vacation. A questionnaire will be used to determine what experience they may have had in dairying, fruit growing, poultry raising and general farming.

Acting on a recommendation received from the Department of Education, the Saanich School Board is authorizing principals to release pupils in Grades VIII to XII after June 1, providing these students have made such progress during the year as to entitle them to promotion. However, children will not be excused from school for any other work but farming, nor will they be released for such work unless they present a written request from parents and prospective employers, officials said.

It was pointed out that, as in former years, there will be considerable student labor available after June 15, since pupils in Grades IX, X and XI, who are promoted on recommendation, will be free at that time.

What Today Means

ARIES

If April 14 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 9:15 to 11:15 a.m., from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. and from 7:15 to 9:15 p.m. The danger periods will be from 7:10 to 9:15 a.m., from 5:15 to 7:15 p.m. and from 9:15 to 11:15 p.m.

When figuring time and elimination of distances as a result of the faster tempo brought about by modern inventions, you must readily adjust your conceptions of the parts both play in the ordinary course of human affairs. Time also is apt to bring to many people a full realization of the truthfulness of the old saying, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder," and family ties will grow closer and closer. Be optimistic on April 14, for prevailing conditions appear to be favorable for those celebrating this date as their birth anniversary. Divergence of viewpoints regarding activities and opinions will result in many discussions; if you participate in such a discussion, make up your mind now to do it calmly and without display of anger or rancor. Married and engaged couples, as well as sweethearts, will do well to avoid trying to force their individual opinions on each other, if quarrels are to be avoided.

If you are a woman and April 14 is your birthday, you should be an excellent conversationalist with a splendid sense of humor. New interests are apt to absorb a great deal of your spare time and cause you to give less time to social activities. There appears to be no limitations to what you can do once you enter upon a venture with the proper enthusiasm. You ought to have the gift for getting along with others and have no difficulty in winning their confidence. As an instructress, professional entertainer, lecturer, demonstrator, skilled mechanic, trained nurse, author, broker, sales agent, or in some patriotic endeavor, success should crown your efforts. By devoting the proper amount of time and endeavor to the maintenance of your home, you ought to be capable of making the man you marry your devoted slave.

The child born on April 14 generally is a great lover of outdoor sports, animals and Mother Nature. Dynamic energy is likely to characterize most of his efforts. Every effort should be made to arouse

"Dina Cashman"

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

CHAPTER III

They went into the lighted, hot drug store that blended a thousand odors into a general one predominantly of vanilla, carbolic acid, and coffee. Melda Binn was there with Charlie Lomax; they said the others were at the 7 o'clock show and were going over to Cotta's afterward.

Dina sat on a high revolving stool at the counter and sipped a sweet drink flavored with wintergreen and looked at herself between the bright manifold signs that framed the mirror.

"Want to go to the show, Dina?"

"Oh, no; it's nearly 9 o'clock already. Let's have sandwiches or dogs—or something at Cotta's and talk."

"Suits me," Tom said. They were joined in their discussion by the clerk, Len Hargess, who said he would come over to Cotta's, too, after closing.

"We won't be that late. You stay open until nearly eleven, don't you?" Tom asked. Len said maybe Gus would take over about ten. Most folks went right home after the nine; they didn't want to be out much later than that.

"Find things changed, Tom?" Len asked, swabbing the counter.

"Only Dina. She's prettier than ever," Tom said.

Dina, who had been studying her own reflection in the mirror, pushing up a curled lock, touching a tiny powder pad to her nose, smiled absently. Her appearance was not her immediate concern!

Nothing of this familiar scene seemed the same tonight. An anxious trickle of thought underran it like a tiny stream of filth and shame, breaking it slowly but surely away from its regular course, undermining everything, changing everything. Tom's flattery and her own comeliness and the homage of her little crowd meant nothing now.

Only one fact, one fearful suspicion, was significant, and until that fact was denied or confirmed she would live in a world apart from everyone.

Cotta's was an old assembly hall that had been abandoned for years until the present proprietor had rented it. He had swept its wide bleak floors, hung some limp bunting in loops under its windows, pushed a mechanical piano into one of its empty corners, arranged a group of small tables in another.

Men paid 25 cents admittance; girls came in free. Beer and soft drinks were sold, and sandwiches wrapped in oiled paper might be had for a nickle apiece.

All sorts of persons came to Cotta's. It was cheap, for one thing. Men brought queer-looking women there on Saturday and Sunday nights, and they sat laughing and murmuring over their drinks until the next morning's early hours.

Sometimes absorbed groups gathered about the battered old billiard table that occupied one corner of the great space; often men played nickel poker or rummy.

Even with this furnishing there was plenty of room left. That was the great attraction at Cotta's. In the centre of the hall was a dance floor large enough to accommodate a hundred couples. No crowding here. Forlorn and bare as the place was, when the piano duly began its pounding and the young feet moved on the smooth old board floor it afforded only sheer delight to the dancers from Railway Flats.

In the corner where the tables stood and where drinks and sandwiches were served some small effort at decoration had been made. Eighteen wooden columns, about seven feet high, had been set up to form a sort of arbor, twined with cotton grapevines and threaded with colored electric bulbs.

These last shed a softened light upon Dina and her intimates as they took possession of a special table and prepared themselves for an hour or two of pleasure.

Young Tony came forward in shirt sleeves and vest to take their order. He wore no collar; his pleasant face was beaded with perspiration.

"Big dinner tonight, Tony?" Dina surmised.

"Beeg? My God they say seventy and Poppa feed one hundred twania-seex," Tony answered without punctuation.

Dina always drank pop or coke or some other soft drink. Her mother had impressed her early in life with the danger of intoxicants, and her father had contributed an unconscious yet far more forceful lesson. Tonight, sipping her dark, sweet-flavored beverage, she reflected somewhat sadly upon the irony of their warnings. It had not been drink that had brought her to her present predicament. She had not been carried away. She had loved, deeply, truly, and she loved now.

"Dance again, Dina?"

"Sure, Dunk." This time it was the older Beatty boy. Dina went around and around the hall in a dream. In five minutes she was glad to be landed back again at her place at the table.

Frances Tack and Betty Lomax were the other girls with her, and there were five boys—Tom O'Connor, Ward Binn, Dunk Beatty, Willie Mulligan and Charles Lomax. Frances Tack worked with Dina in Meyer's grocery, Frances, at twenty-four, had had an unhappy marriage, a divorce behind her, and now a two-year-old daughter to support.

Frances was hard, brief of speech, skeptical, disillusioned. She was hopelessly in love with Tom, who was indeed the most attractive, the most ambitious, steady, and best-looking of the boys. Tom's mother would rather have seen him laid in his grave than married to Frances, but as Tom was not in the least interested in the grass widow the alternative was not likely to be mentioned.

Betty and Charlie Lomax were nice but, in the parlance of the group, dumb. Charlie could bore any girl almost into a coma in five minutes, and Betty was a simple little fool who told everybody everything she knew or imagined she knew, babbled that her mother had an old friend who gave her a squirrel coat because she got a new customer and that Papa was so mad he made her send it back.

Everyone knew that flighty, artifically blonde little Mrs. Lomax was as free as she was mysterious in her friendships, her engagements, her affairs of the heart, but everyone blamed foolish little Betty for prattling so innocently about it.

Betty also was in love; she was crazy about Ward Binn. Ward liked a girl he had met in Stockton and wrote her every week. Tom O'Connor had always been in love with Dina Cashman; their affair and the pairing of their names were established facts.

But Dina knew tonight that all that was over. She had never loved Tom, had never thought seriously of marrying him. The possibility assumed a new charm as it faded forever.
